Gemini Trip Less Strenuous, Say Medicos To Step Up Schedule of Space Flights

Pilots Soon Will Stay Up Longer Intricate Moves Being Considered

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A space agency official, commenting on the remarkable flight of Gemini 4, said: "You ain't seen nothing yet."

He was looking to future U.S. man-in-space flights which will be launched on an accelerated schedule as a result of the success of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

Gemini spacecraft will hook up with other satellites; the pilots will perform intricate maneuvers during trips up to two weeks; and men will walk and work outside their orbiting spacecraft for longer periods than the excursion made by White.

Moon in Three Years

Then on to the moon—perhaps only three years from now—and man's greatest adventure.

Even as McDivitt and White were being hoisted from the Atlantic Ocean Monday after their four-day trip, the Titan 2 rocket for Gemini 5 was being erected at Cape Kennedy.

The crew will be veteran Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr., whose 34-hour American space flight record was shattered by Gemini 4, and rookie pilot Charles Conrad Jr. They have a late August date with the stars.

Cooper and Conrad are to stay in space for seven days, but space agency officials hinted they could be up for a longer time — based on preliminary data from Gemini 4.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of Gemini medical operations, said that preliminary examination of McDivitt and White indicates that "we've knocked down a lot of straw men with this mission."

Exercise Helps

He said that weightlessness apparently is not as dangerous as was feared at least not for four days. Cooper had shown some disquieting symptoms, especially in the heart and blood vessel systems, as did Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky after his record five-day space trip.

Berry said that a rigid exercise schedule with a stretch cord apparently helped McDivitt and White to overcome any after-effects of weightlessness.

Berry also listed the buildup of heat in a spacecraft as another tooned "straw man." He said a steady temperature of around 65 degrees, with no humidity, was maintained throughout the flight.

No Dizziness

The physician said White experienced no dizziness during his space walk — as the Russian, Alexei Leonov reported on his March 18 stroll.

Gemini project director Charles Mathews called Gemini 4 a milestone, "and now we're" (Continued on Page 14, Col. 6)

Martorana to Seek Wilson Support for Senate Seat

Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana, the only announced Republican candidate from Ulster County for the new 43rd Senate District seat, made known today that he will seek the support of Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson in his bid for the Republican nomination.

Martorana stated that in his appeal to Wilson, who is also Ulster County Republican chairman, he will strongly emphasize that he would be a good running mate for Wilson who will be seeking re-election as Ulster County Assemblyman. Wilson is from Woodstock in the northern part of Ulster County and Martorana is from Plattekill in the southern part of the county.

Supporting his bid for the Senate seat, Martorana points to his

Exploding Fuel Sprays Six At Saugerties Gas Station

Six persons were sprayed with flaming gasoline Monday night when a tank truck discharging gas at the Alfred Sylvester American Gas Station, Route 212, Pine Grove a mile east of Glasco Turnpike, exploded. One of them, Susan Shader, 22, Town of Saugerties, was reported in "critical" condition at Benedictine Hospital today.

Ethel Ann Sylvester, 27, Saugerties, who was also taken to Benedictine Hospital by the H. & S. Ambulance Service, Saugerties, suffered first and second degree burns of the legs, waist and face.

Badly Burned

Susan Shader, 22, received third degree burns of the arms, legs and face.

The accident happened at about 8:10 p. m. while Maurice Dayton, 26, of Fosterstown Road, Newburgh, driver of an American Oil Company gasoline truck, was discharging gasoline at the Sylvester station.

State Police who investigated the explosion reported Dayton pumped about 200 gallons of gasoline into the underground tank when flames enveloped the tractor trailer. Dayton shut off the valves and drove his truck from the station away from buildings on the highway. He abandoned the vehicle which shortly after exploded. He was uninjured.

Fire officials reported that the rear section of the truck containing 1,000 gallons of hi-test gas exploded and subsequently ignited the second 1,000 gallon section.

Seen For Miles

Huge columns of black smoke could be seen for many miles.

Burned by the hot gas was Jack Sylvester, 29, Saugerties, first degree burns on hands and third degree burns of the arms and face. He was treated by Dr. Norman Berg of Woodstock and released. Grace Sylvester, 52, Saugerties, minor burns of legs. Robert Sandt, 50, Saugerties, minor flash burns of the face. Mary Sandt, 49, Saugerties, minor flash burns of legs.

Cause of the fire is unknown although state police who investigated reported the fire apparently started near vent pipes alongside the building.

Investigating the explosion was Investigator Joseph Franke, Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, and Troopers Carl Van Wageren and B. Lunsberry.

8 Companies Respond

Firemen from eight companies were at the scene. On the job was Centerville Fire Company, Frank Ward, chief, in whose district the explosion took place. Assisting was Cedar Grove; (Continued on Page 14, Col. 7)

11,000 Officers, Men Needed

Navy May Have to Rely On Enlistment Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, taxed by the demands of the war in Viet Nam, has proposed boosting its strength by about 11,000 officers and men, it was learned today.

The Navy wants to do so by prolonging enlistments and active-duty tours of certain skilled and seasoned officers and men for perhaps six months, sources said.

Up to Defense Dept.

There were strong indications that the Navy proposal was running into heavy weather at the top Defense Department level, where the final decision will be made.

The recommendation was submitted to Pentagon leaders as Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze's appeal for voluntary extensions appeared to be a flop.

In the month since Nitze publicly appealed for Navy men to "make a personal contribution to meeting the present challenge," fewer than 100 officers and only about 200 enlisted men have agreed to stay in uniform three to six months beyond the expiration of their terms of service.

Asked about the reported proposal, the Pentagon said: "We will not comment on any internal working papers between the services and the office of the secretary of defense."

The Navy is about 6,000 short of its manpower goal of 674,115 officers and men.

Thus, to reach that goal and 11,000 more beyond, the Navy would have to freeze the enlistments and active-duty tours of about 17,000 skilled officers and men.

No Relief Crews

The additional people, sources said, would be used to bring U.S. fleet units in the Pacific up to full strength. They have been operating at somewhat below the maximum allowable level.

Navy officers said that units of the 7th Fleet standing off Viet Nam have had to operate without relief crews to spell men in the virtually round-the-clock operations. It was understood that the manpower increases were intended not only for the 7th Fleet but for the 1st Fleet which operates closer to the U.S. Pacific Coast.

The Navy needs no authority, beyond approval of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, to extend enlistments and duty tours on an involuntary basis.

Molyneux Asks Legislation To Aid Narcotic Enforcement

District Attorney Joseph P. Torrace said today that the so-called "sadistic torture" case of a Woodstock man and alleged narcotics activity in that township would be presented Thursday to the grand jury.

His action came on the heels of a publicized interview by Barry Walsh, 23, of Woodstock Acres, Monday night over radio station WGHQ, in which Walsh gave details of a "torture" last Tuesday night in a house on Mead Mountain Road. Walsh also said in the taped interview made at his home that use of various forms of narcotics in Woodstock was prevalent and that "dope" could be easily obtained by young people.

Sending Telegrams

At the same time, Town of Woodstock Supervisor Abram F. Molyneux, told The Freeman that he will send telegrams to Governor Rockefeller, Sen. E. Ogden Bush (R-Delaware) and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock) urging legislation that would "untie the hands of law enforcement officers with respect to laws pertaining to narcotics" and providing for "more stringent punishment for the pusher as well

Legion to Fete Boys Staters at Dinner June 24

The 19th annual testimonial reception and dinner for the 1965 Ulster County American Legion Boys State selectees will be held Thursday night, June 24 at the hall of Town of Esopus Post 1298 in Port Ewen.

This year's event will be held in the new addition to Legion Post Home at Port Ewen.

Leave June 26

The selectees will leave Sunday, June 26 for Colgate University at Hamilton where they will attend this year's session of Boys State under the sponsorship of the American Legion, Department of New York. More than 1,000 high school juniors from all parts of the state will be attending the sessions.

The Ulster County selectees will accompany the delegates from Orange, Rockland and Dutchess Counties by chartered bus direct to the Colgate Campus. They will return the following Saturday.

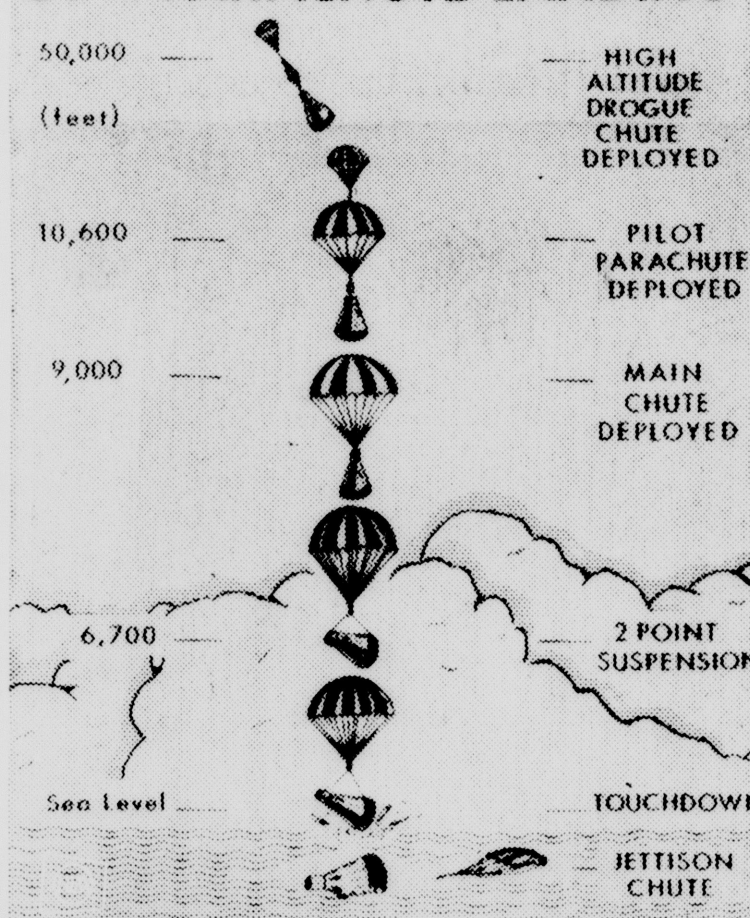

It is the responsibility of the individual Legion post's Boys State chairmen to assure transportation connections of their selectees.

Many of the posts invite the fathers, and as last year, the mothers of the boys were invited. All Ulster County Legionnaires are invited to attend. Dinner is served at 7 p. m.

Will Be Briefed

The boys will have an opportunity to become acquainted. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Key Step for Lunar Man

Soviet Tries for New Soft Landing on Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a rocket toward the moon today in what appeared to be its second try in a month to make history's first soft landing on the lunar surface.

The Russians first tested their soft-landing system in Luna 5, which crashed on the moon May 12. But they said at the time that the flight had collected valuable data for further attempts.

The brief Tass announcement gave no indication whether Luna 6 would attempt a soft landing.

Tass said the flight would continue about three and a half days and was proceeding on a trajectory close to the planned route.

It said Luna 6, like Luna 5, was launched by a multistage rocket. The last stage of the rocket was put into orbit around the earth and then launched the "automatic space station" on its flight to the moon, Tass said.

Weights 3,172 Pounds

By 5 a. m. (EST), Luna 6 was 12,600 miles from the earth, Tass said, and all instruments aboard were functioning normally.

Tass said Luna 6 weighs 3,172 pounds.

TAC Chief Retiring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Walter C. Sweeney Jr., 55, will retire next month as chief of the Tactical Air Command, a post he has held since Sept. 30, 1961.

Sweeney is about to complete 35 years of active service. No successor for the four-star position has yet been named.

Short Mercury Whirls Harder on Astronauts

Physicians Keeping McDivitt, White On Carrier Wasp Until Thursday A.M.

By VERN HAUGLAND

ABOARD USS WASP (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II endured their four-day flight with even less apparent physical difficulties than did some of the Mercury astronauts on much shorter missions, the physician in charge of manned space flight medicine said today.

Even so the physician, Dr. Charles A. Berry, notified Adm. William McCormick, recovery force commander, it probably will be necessary to keep the astronauts on the Wasp until Thursday morning.

At Houston, Tex., officials of the Manned Spacecraft Center said no decisions had been made on when the astronauts will leave the Wasp and return to Houston for a news conference.

Very Optimistic

Berry said the Gemini physicians were "tremendously optimistic" as to the implications for longer space missions of the future, from observations to date as to symptoms of ill effects on heart or blood vessel systems.

The symptoms have not been as marked as on the three-or four-hour Mercury missions such as the one made in 1963 by Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper, he said.

Berry flew to the Wasp Monday from Houston after the end of the 1,609,684-mile space mission.

Dr. Howard Manners, one of the first physicians to examine the astronauts, had said Monday both were sound and "active, talkative and cheerful."

Other Americans across the land, who stayed glued to their televisions during the dramatic landing sequence which ended with splashdown at 12:13 p. m. (EST) Monday, were equally cheerful — including the President of the United States.

"I just wanted to say to you and Maj. White 'well done,'" President Johnson said to McDivitt by telephone shortly after the two had been plucked from the Atlantic and landed safely on the deck of the Wasp at 1:09 p. m. to a thunderous ovation from the ship's mighty crew.

"We're all in this country very proud of you," the President continued, "and I think the entire world is grateful for what you've done and particularly for your safe return."

"You've both written your name in history and in our hearts."

Then the President invited White and McDivitt to his Texas ranch this weekend where he said he had been "saving a little something for you" — presumably some sort of award. The mayor of New York also invited them there for a traditional ticker-tape parade.

Officials Jubilant

Judging from the reaction of space officials at the Houston Mission Control, the pair plainly deserved both an award and a parade.

They were jubilant over the success of the mission, which included White's 20-minute adventure outside the capsule, and said they see no barrier to moving ahead in the Gemini program to a seven-day flight in August.

Doctors, especially, were pleased with the flight. Dr. Charles A. Berry, the chief medical officer, said the astronauts were "in much better physical condition than we anticipated." Berry flew to the carrier Monday night.

Doctors aboard the Wasp examined the pair carefully and pronounced them in excellent shape.

Have Steak, Potatoes

After initial medical tests — and after telling their wives by phone that they were feeling fine — the astronauts showered, shaved their four-day beards, and ate a hearty meal of steak and potatoes at the admiral's table. Then they went out to the carrier deck and inspected their spacecraft which had been (Continued on Page 14, Col. 4)

33 Jets Hammer Supply Depot in Heaviest Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thirty-three American jets hit the Vinh supply depot in North Viet Nam again today and pilots reported heavy damage to the target despite intense antiaircraft fire.

The raid on Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi, was the heaviest reported as American planes continued to hammer at targets north of the demilitarized zone. Spokesmen said all planes returned safely to their land bases or carrier bases.

Extensive Damage

Vinh had been hit Monday by U.S. Air Force planes. After the 10-minute attack today, pilots reported they inflicted extensive damage on the 40 or 50 buildings still standing in the supply depot area. They said exact damage assessments were difficult to make because of the intense ground fire.

Spokesmen said 23 tons of 750-pound bombs were dropped. They said no enemy planes were sighted.

Navy pilots said they destroyed 50 per cent of the Co Dinh power plant about 9 miles south of Thanh Hoa. Six Air Force bombers claimed they sank two barges and four sampans near the North Vietnamese coastal town of Ren, 220 miles south of Hanoi.

Radar Station Target

Another target was the Lan Van radar station near Vinh. Air Force pilots said they damaged it. (Continued on Page 14, Col. 8)

Saugerties Board Awards Contracts; Gets Complaint

Contracts were let for fuel oil and a new police patrol car, and a violation of the zoning ordinance was reported at the Monday night meeting of Saugerties Village Board of Trustees held at the village clerk's office.

Kingston Oil Supply, low bidder with 1063 per gallon was awarded the contract for approximately 28,000 gallons of fuel oil for municipal buildings. Four bids were received.

Saugerties Sales and Service, Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, was awarded the contract to supply a new police patrol car. The bid for the sedan which covered heavy duty specifications was $2,099.90 with trade for the old car, also an Oldsmobile purchased from the same firm.

James J. Dargan, Dodge-Plymouth dealer, bid $2,015 with trade which was lower, but did not meet heavy duty specifications.

The new patrol car, an Oldsmobile, will be delivered all white, in approximately four to six weeks.

An apparent violation of the village zoning ordinance was reported to the board by Earl Hawk, a retired U. S. Naval admiral and resident of Ferry Street.

In his letter to Mayor Cornelius Cox, he said Norman Nelson of 13 Ferry Street was conducting an excavating and trucking business at the premises which is designated U1, private residences in the zoning ordinance.

Hawk said a large garage has been constructed on the property to house a large truck, bulldozer and backhoe-front loader. He also said a number of powerboats were stored on the Nelson waterfront property and a marine gasoline station has been established there.

He concludes these commercial activities are prohibited in a residential zone. (Continued on Page 14, Col. 1)

Legislatures Across Nation

Enacting Safety Measures As Traffic Fatalities Climb

CHICAGO (AP) — State legislatures are counter-attacking in the nation's long and losing battle against highway accidents, which now kill an average of 125 Americans a day.

As more and more automobiles jam the highways, and the accident death rate climbs, legislatures are passing laws requiring seat belts, running rat-traps off the roads and reinforcing state highway patrols, an Associated Press survey showed today.

The National Safety Council said today there were 13,710 traffic deaths in the nation during the first four months this year, a 2 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Legislatures in Montana and North Dakota recently approved bills requiring safety belts for front seats of all new cars, starting with the 1966 models.

Gov. Henry Bellmon signed a similar measure for Oklahoma.

New York Takes Action

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York signed a bill to compel used-car dealers to install front seat belts in automobiles of 1963 and later models, beginning Jan. 1, 1967.

The Iowa Legislature ordered front seat belts for autos of 1962 and later models sold after Jan. 1.

The Ohio Legislature decided there must be front seat belts in new cars, starting next year.

Safety belt statutes are in force in 23 states.

Nebraska's lawmakers prohibited drag racing on streets and public highways.

The Maryland Legislature made it a crime to operate a car in any intentionally "improper manner so as to cause skidding, spinning of wheels or excessive noise." Also banned was use of a flagman or timer in a race on a street or highway.

Aimed at Junkers

A bill designed to get mobile junk heaps off the roads was adopted in Maryland, which hasn't had compulsory auto inspection since the 1930s.

It provides: police, starting next month, can stop any auto they consider defective and order repairs. The drivers will have 10 days to comply. If not, they will lose their licenses. In addition, when used-car titles change hands after Jan. 1 the cars must meet standards to be set forth by the state commissioner of motor vehicles.

The Nevada Legislature approved legislation which forbids motor carriers to operate any vehicle that is found to be in unsafe condition.

The Iowa Legislature added 100 men to the road patrol force.

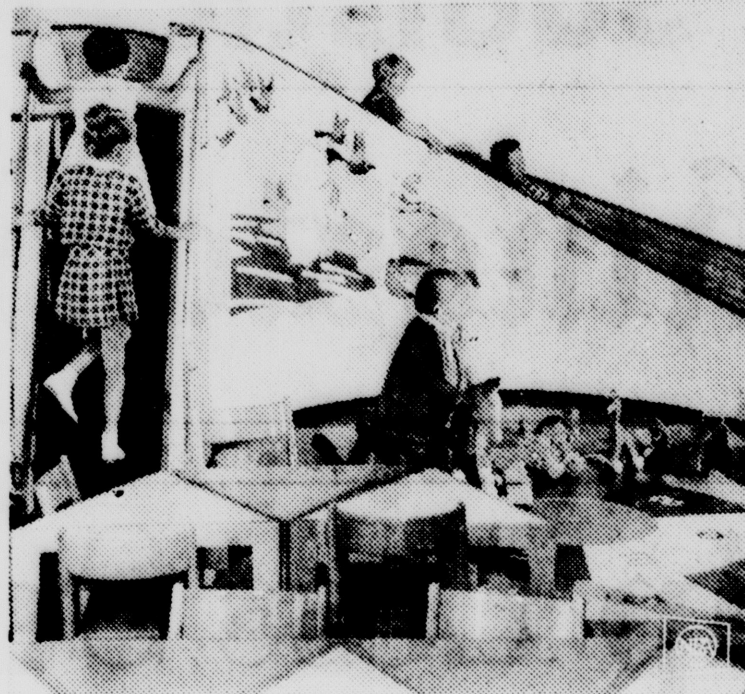

Georgia lawmakers provided money for 40 additional state patrolmen and salary increases of about $50 a month in the next two-year period for 450 patrolmen.

Stiff Sentence

A new Colorado law gives the automobile the same status as a gun as a deadly weapon. It provides 1 to 14 years in prison for causing a death with a car deliberately or through extreme recklessness, such as in drag racing. Injuries under similar circumstances can result in 1-to-5-year terms.

The minimum age for a driver's license was raised from 15 to 16 in Montana and from 16 to 17 in Utah except for those who pass an approved training course.

Indiana made all driver licenses probationary for persons under 21, subject to revocation by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Panamanian Communists Fail To Take Advantage of Santo

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

PANAMA (AP) — The Dominican crisis has made a normally delicate Panama political situation even more so. But up to now the Communists, divided here as they are in other Latin American countries, have failed dismally in their efforts to take advantage of the situation.

Robles Determined

Victor Avila, 26, a student at the University of Panama and the general secretary of the Student Federation, insists demonstrations were inhibited by government intimidation.

President Marco A. Robles is determined that his well-trained National Guard of 3,500 men will prevent violence. But there has been no sign of any mass enthusiasm to follow the lead of the small, tough core of young Communists. Their attempts to mount noisy demonstrations flopped.

The Panamanian Communist response to the opportunity for violence presented by the Dominican crisis is more evidence of the damage done to the extreme left in Latin America by the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

The Communists will keep trying. There is always a possibility that some incident — involving the Canal Zone and bruised Panamanian feelings of flouted sovereignty, for example — could supply a spark with which Communists could inflame crowds. Such a demonstration could be turned into riot against the Americans on the Dominican issue and against the government for its only slightly qualified support of Washington in the Organization of American States.

Many Issues

There is a multiplicity of domestic issues — high prices, a certain amount of unemployment, negotiations with Washington looking toward a revision of the Panama Canal treaty — which could provide the extreme leftists ammunition. The situation of Panama chronically is more or less delicate.

But, barring a sudden incident which could move crowds into

Senate Considers Key Amendment For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved President Johnson's request for an added $89 million in the foreign aid bill to start a new economic development program for Southeast Asia.

Today the Senate considers a significant amendment which would channel much of the military assistance to Latin American countries through the Organization of American States. The amendment was prepared by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

42-26 Ballot

Monday's 42-26 vote added the $89 million to the pending two-year $3.35-billion-a-year foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate rejected, 45 to 22, an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to cut down the foreign aid measure by $89 million, to provide the extra financing of the new Asian projects in South Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., joined Morse, saying the new program should have been offered six months ago, before the U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam. This would have ensured a better reception for it, he said.

The OAS amendment, if it gets final approval, would require military assistance to Latin America be given "to the maximum extent possible" under joint plans "approved by the OAS."

Deals With Security

This would cover requests from Latin American countries for arms aid to deal with internal security problems and subversion. Of the $55 million made available in military assistance to Latin America under the bill.

Will Move for Funds

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Budget Secretary Martin H. Brackbill said today the Scranton administration would take steps in mid-June to assure sufficient funds to begin the new fiscal year July 1, if legislative Democrats refuse to approve appropriations measures before then.

Democratic leaders of both houses declared in a joint statement Monday that the party will not approve the $1.131 billion general appropriation bill, until it has a definite idea of the surplus in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — William A. Lane, who had been an electrician with the New York Air Brake Co. here for 30 years, died of an electrical shock Monday when he touched a 440-volt power line at the plant.

Lane, 60, of Cape Vincent, was installing a power line to a machine when the accident occurred.

Two Say Innocent In $100,000 Car, Truck Theft Case

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two of six men indicted on federal charges involving an alleged $100,000 automobile and truck theft ring between Buffalo and Chicago have pleaded innocent.

Robert S. Kampinski, 26, who formerly operated an automobile agency in nearby Lackawanna, and John Pelligrini, 28, one of his salesmen, pleaded innocent Monday in Federal Court to charges of conspiracy and concealing stolen automobiles.

U.S. Atty. John T. Curtin said the indictment involved the theft in Chicago of cars and diesel tractor-trucks, worth more than $100,000, and their eventual transport to Buffalo for disposal. Curtin said the indictment covered the period July 15 to Oct. 30, 1964.

The others will be arraigned Monday, Curtin said.

South Guards Against Hearts

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Mrs. Herbert Wales of Dallas, a former president of the American Bridge Teachers' Association, believes that a teaching hand should be simple and straight forward so that today's hand should really meet with her approval.

The first point of interest is North's three no-trump response to his partner's opening no-trump. North has no reason to show his five card club suit because no-trump must offer the best play for game.

West has a normal opening lead of the king of hearts and South can see that he must attack clubs. If the club finesse works he can count five clubs, three diamonds and the two major suit aces for 10 tricks. If it fails he can still count nine tricks provided his opponents aren't unkind enough to take five tricks before he can gather in his nine.

South can insure that this won't happen by the simple expedient of ducking the first two rounds of hearts. He can do this safely because West can't shift to any suit that will embarrass him.

So he lets West hold the first two heart tricks and wins the third. Then he tries the club finesse and East is in with the king.

East does not have a heart left so he shifts to a spade. South must refuse the spade finesse. He can count nine tricks without it and he has contracted to take only nine tricks.

Later he can try for a tenth trick by leading a spade from dummy after first cashing all the clubs and diamonds. He won't make this tenth trick but he has nothing to lose by trying for it, after he has made certain of his contract.

Ridgely Farms Cow Has Production Record

A report from Holstein-Friesian Association of America cites one Ulster County cow among 21 in the state that have recently passed the 195,000 pound lifetime milk production level. Food production credits were made under official testing supervision.

The Ulster County cow is Ridgely Var Nelly, owned by Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge, with a record of 153,765 pounds of milk and 5,577 pounds of butterfat.

The cows certified at this time join a list of nearly 2,150 registered Holsteins that have attained lifetime credits exceeding 150,000 pounds, an output six times greater than the average U. S. cow's lifetime total.

Faces 10 Years For Twin's Death Climaxing Fight

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Years of conflict that resulted in death for wealthy Todd Nicholson have ended in a prison term for his twin brother, Timothy.

Timothy Nicholson, 22, was convicted Monday of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his brother Todd at the climax of a bitter quarrel last Dec. 7.

Timothy faces one to 10 years in prison. He is not eligible for probation, but could be paroled after about 18 months. A jury of seven men and five women reached the verdict after deliberating two days.

Possible Verdicts

Other possible verdicts were first-order second-degree murder and acquittal.

The emotion-charged trial — spread over five and one-half weeks — produced testimony of violent rages, protestations of self-defense and charges of falsehood.

Timothy sat dry-eyed, his head bowed, through the readings of the verdict.

Witnesses for the defense testified Todd possessed an explosive, almost psychotic, temper, often aimed at Timothy. They also said Todd had taken out a $1-million insurance policy on Timothy's life, then presented himself as Timothy for the physical examination. The twins' mother, Roberta Nicholson, confirmed this on the witness stand.

Heirs to Fortunes

The twins, heirs to Cudahy meat-packing and Pullman sleeping-car fortunes, had pooled their efforts in profitable real estate investments, mostly through the Sun Development Co. of Phoenix, Ariz.

The prosecution claimed Timothy once threatened to kill Todd, then tried to hire a house painter to "get rid of" Todd. Failing in this, the prosecutor said, Timothy decided to kill Todd himself.

Can't Explain Hatred

"What caused the defendant to develop this great hatred toward his twin brother, I can't explain, but it was there," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph Carr in his summation to the jury.

The defense described Timothy as the milder of the twins, indicating he regularly left home, beginning at age 19, when Todd, in a violent rage, kicked him out.

"When Todd gets mad," Timothy testified, "the only thing to do is to just leave Todd alone."

Superior Court Judge H. Burton Noble set July 9 for sentencing.

The jury did not specify in its verdict whether the manslaughter was voluntary or involuntary. In either case the penalty is the same.

Sept. 1 Is Date For Children's Library Opening

Officials of the Kingston City Library announced tentative completion of the Kingston Lions Children's Library before Sept. 1.

Don Sager, director of the library, said a committee of library trustees consisting of Chester A. Baltz Jr., G. Herbert DeKay and Mrs. Harry Gold had been appointed for this expansion by board president, Frederick Stang. The committee had approved plans for the children's library and rearrangement of the library's present building.

Included in the plans are two children's reading and study rooms, a story telling room, film viewing and general meeting rooms, a special conference and discussion room, a reference and periodical room, music storage and listening rooms, and additional work and storage space.

Project on Exhibit

The layout for the expansion project is now on exhibit in the main lobby of the library.

The contract for furnishings has been awarded to Standard Wood Products of Rochester. All children's shelving, tables and chairs will be blond, while shelving racks, tables, study carrels and chairs in the rest of the new areas will be light oak to conform with existing equipment.

Sager said that specifications have been released on all other necessary work, and that renovation has already started in some areas. He noted that moving and structural changes will be completed during the summer, in time to avoid the usual heavy student rush starting in September.

Sager said he has received some comments from persons who wondered why the library did not build a new wing, rather than trying to renovate an adjoining building. He explained that because of a critical shortage of space and due to the library's small budget and endowment, it could not afford to even consider new construction at this time.

The funds for the purchase of the property, Sager added, came from a small endowment the library had, and the purchase was only possible because of the extremely low price of $10,000 for the building.

Funds From Lions

The funds for renovations and furnishings were completely supplied by the Kingston Lions Club, as a very generous gift to the community, Sager said that the Lions Club deserves a great deal of credit for this contribution.

Hercules Local Plant Fills AID Order for Yemen

The Hercules Powder Co. plant at Port Ewen, has filled a $11,951 order for road building explosives being sent to Yemen through United States foreign aid financing, the Agency for international Development reported today.

Purchase was made by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for an AID project. It is part of the U. S. economic development program in Yemen, which emphasizes self-help urban and rural development activities.

American firms produce more than 90 per cent of all goods bought by developing countries through AID financing. Yearly U. S. volume of AID program exports is now at a billion dollar level.

You don't have to like golf to like our Buick "Swinging Sales Spree."

Just driving. (And saving money.)

The reason you have to like driving is that once you get in a Buick Special (above), you may never get out again. If you like golf, a Buick Special could save enough to pay for some new equipment. If you don't you can drive out to the club in style, and watch the others frustrate themselves—and still save money on gas. (If you patronize a drive-in bank, that solves the problem of getting out of the car, too.) We know you'll like Buick comfort, luxury, engineering and quality. And our Wildcat power. These are the things we put in every Buick. And right now—during our Swinging Sales Spree—is the best time to come in and see them. (The "greens fees" are very low.)

Proposed legislation to reduce excise tax on new passenger automobiles provides a refund of such tax reduction where a passenger automobile is sold to a retail purchaser after May 14, 1965 and before July 1, 1966, when the excise tax reduction becomes effective. Where a refund is authorized by this legislation, General Motors Corporation will make a cash payment to such a purchaser in the amount of the excise tax reduction.

THE ECONOMIC GAP

All are aware, in a general way, of the enormous gap between the more affluent nations of the West and the underdeveloped nations in Asia and Africa. It is good to focus the white light of specifics on this generality.

A beam of such light was turned on the matter in a recent talk by David E. Bell, noted administrator of the Agency for International Development. Having discussed the noble objectives of the U.S. foreign assistance program — "to establish conditions in which men can work together cooperatively for the advancement and enrichment of human life and free society" — he issued a word of caution. "We should not delude ourselves," he said, "as to the pace at which change can be achieved."

To illustrate, Bell turned to that oft-cited example of mass deprivation, India. It would be a fine thing, he noted, if India were able to double its per capita income in the next quarter century with the aid of the United States and other prosperous countries. But then he noted the devastating key point: Even should this be achieved, India's annual per capita income would still be only $150, whereas by then U.S. per capita income is expected to be about $4,000 per year. These figures put the discrepancy between the haves and the have-nots in harrowing perspective.

It is significant, however, that Bell was able to wind up on an optimistic note. Raising India's per capita income even to $150, he said, "could mean that all of India's children could be in primary school, instead of only half, which is the case today. It could mean that major diseases such as malaria and cholera could have been wiped out. Above all, it could mean that the conditions for steady and continuing progress could have been established." These possibilities eminently justify generous help from the United States and other affluent free nations.

CRYSTAL-BALL COMPUTER

The Kaiser and the Czar were pitted against each other again recently. The verdict is that they acted no more wisely than they did during the crucial days leading to the outbreak of World War I.

The "Kaiser" and the "Czar" were simulated by a computer called Crisicom, which is being used to investigate the decision-making behavior of national leaders during an international crisis.

In the Crisicom computer, as described by Science Service, two human decision makers are represented. Each of them receives a great number of messages and, as is the case in real life, each gradually acquires a different picture of the world.

Fed some 1,500 bits of information taken from history books and from newspapers of the time, the simulated leaders of 1914 behaved much as did the actual Kaiser and Czar, paying attention to some messages and ignoring others that conflicted with their "views of reality."

Another planned experiment is the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, which will play a simulated "President Kennedy" against a "Nikita Khrushchev."

After being proved out by re-enacting actual historical crises, Crisicom may be set to work simulating crises that haven't happened but could—such as a confrontation between American and Chinese troops in Viet Nam—and, it is hoped, show us how to resolve them more sensibly than the men of 1914.

A revision of the old saying may be in order: Those who do not learn from the future are doomed to repeat the mistakes of the past.

NEW POSTAL SERVICE

There should be relatively little legislative difficulty in implementing the latest suggestion from the Post Office for improving postal service.

Under the plan, which requires congressional approval before it can begin, first-class mail would be delivered by the fastest means available—whether it be air, rail, water, road or shank's mare.

This would mean overnight delivery for 95 per cent of all letters, according to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski. Air mail as a separate postal category would be

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

ANYTHING LEFT FOR A RAINY DAY?

The only thing the Republicans have going for them domestically is that Lyndon Johnson is passing out favors at a rate that could be impossible to maintain over any long period of time.

In 1964 it was the income tax cut. This got the Administration past the November election and it has undoubtedly kept the boom going through the first half of 1965. The forthcoming slash in excise taxes is counted on to make people feel good for the rest of the year, especially when they get some tax money knocked off the purchase price of a car. But, since gratitude in politics has been correctly defined as "a lively anticipation of favors to come," neither the income tax cut nor the excise tax remission is going to win the day for LBJ in 1966 and 1968. There will have to be new gimmicks.

No one doubts the infinite resourcefulness of the man from Texas when it comes to figuring out new "consensus" bait for voters. But the question is, has LBJ been dipping too far into his—or our—capital to permit a continuation of his political largesse? The current tax take is good, but federal spending continues to outpace it. Theoretically, federal outlays for "poverty" cures and make-work projects should taper off at the top of a boom, but our present-day Keynesians no longer believe in the so-called compensatory budget. They believe in spending all the time. But when this is the reigning philosophy, there is no cushion left for bad times. With the tax take shrinking, you can't pile new Appalachian anti-poverty programs on old ones and new urban renewal projects on last year's federal bulldozing without ruining the value of money. The Brazilians know all about that.

The tax cuts that have made people feel good today will all be cancelled out tomorrow when the bite for Medicare takes hold. True enough, this won't hit people with full force until after the 1968 elections. But the spectre of 1969, when the combined employer and employer payroll tax is scheduled to rise to $492.80 out of the first $5,600 of income, will make it next to impossible for the Administration to figure out new social security "gifts" for anybody in 1967 and 1968. The cow can't be milked forever without being fed.

Lyndon Johnson is obviously enjoying his current role of benefactor and protector to the hilt. But William McChesney Martin, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has a point when he warns against the recurrence of a 1929 "New Era" euphoria. In his role of professional "no man," Mr. Martin has mentioned such things as the recent rapid increase in consumer debt, the cumulative international deficits, and the expansion of the money supply that has been "superimposed upon a dwindling gold reserve." Feeling that most contemporary money is "only paper," people have been stashing away silver coins and lying to themselves when they say they are "collectors."

Mr. Martin takes due note of the many differences between the boom times of 1965 and those of 1929. The economy today has the so-called "built-in stabilizers." Purchasing power can hardly shrink overnight when unemployment insurance, social security payments, agricultural support checks and plain old-fashioned relief mean that everybody can pay the grocer. Moreover, the debt in Wall Street to brokers' offices is not particularly high, and both wholesale and consumer prices have been relatively stable.

But if the present "New Era" should falter, Mr. Martin's warning against our loss of elasticity could prove memorable. Says Mr. Martin: "The rise in government expenditures even in times of advancing prosperity threatens to make it difficult to be more expansionary should a serious decline in private business activity require it." Translated from banker's lingo, this means the LBJ has been spending his depression insurance money at the top of the boom, which is the wrong time to spend it.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Three Kidneys Unusual But Not Impossible

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—About a year ago I was in the hospital. The doctor told me I had three kidneys. When I tell this to some people they say that's impossible. What do you say?

A—Although I can find references to persons born with only one kidney I can find no reference to anyone having three, but in this world all things are possible.

Q—I was told that I have a horseshoe kidney. What causes this condition? Could this be the reason for my high blood pressure?

A—In the early development of the embryo the two kidneys may be fused together at their upper poles. If this condition persists after birth the result is a horseshoe-shaped kidney that extends to both sides of the spinal column. There is no reason why such a kidney should not function normally or why it should cause high blood pressure.

Q—What is the usual treatment for polycystic kidney? Is a special diet of any value?

A—Polycystic kidney is a congenital condition in which many cysts are present in the kidneys. Such kidneys may reach two or three times the normal size. There is no effective treatment or special diet for this condition.

Q—What symptoms are produced by a kidney stone.

A—Kidney stones have microscopic beginnings. They do not cause symptoms until they become too large to pass easily through the ureter to the bladder. If these larger stones become lodged in the ureter they cause severe colicky pains and some backing up of urine in the kidneys. They may also cause blood and albumin to appear in the urine. Unfortunately no satisfactory method of prevention has as yet been worked out.

Q—How does the menopause start and at what age? How long does it last?

A—Although the menopause usually starts in the mid-40s the age of onset is subject to wide individual variations. There appears to be a tendency in our population for it to start in most women later than was the case 100 years ago.

It is characterized by a longer interval between menstrual periods and a shortening of the periods until they disappear completely. This may take two or three years. Many women have no symptoms and the hot flashes with or without profuse sweating that sometimes accompany the menopause cannot be said to be a part of the change of life because they may persist for many years after all menstruation has stopped.

Please send your question and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

eliminated, although air delivery between cities would continue to be the fastest method in most cases.

An analysis of mail service between 2,000 pairs of cities by the Air Transport Association shows that on an annual basis the new service would mean: 6.2 billion letters would be delivered one day sooner; 971 million would be delivered two days sooner; 388 million three days sooner and 19 million four days sooner.

Uncertain as yet is the stamp price of priority mail. One possibility is a compromise between the present 5 cents for surface first-class and 8 cents for air mail,

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The United States is learning in South Viet Nam that it doesn't have the weapons and equipment needed to fight guerrilla wars most effectively.

The hottest aircraft used in Viet Nam were designed for carrying nuclear weapons. They carry the large-sized conventional iron bombs needed for a fistful of the tasks they're being assigned.

Conventional bombs of the sizes carried have been bouncing off one of the bridges in North Viet Nam and exploding harmlessly in the water. They're not doing the damage necessary when dropped on Viet Cong headquarters hidden in heavily wooded areas.

What's needed are experiments to develop conventional bombs that carry more bang for their size and weight. A great deal of work has been done to cut the size of nuclear weapons. Research with the conventional bombs has lagged.

As of now, 48 or so bombers and a large escort of fighters are sent to take out a bridge meant to be handled with four or five bombers and a handful of escorts.

U. S. aircraft are overly vulnerable to ground fire in the low-level attacks that are vitally important in guerrilla fighting.

Accuracy of delivery on these low-level runs leaves something to be desired.

The bombing systems used in these U. S. planes were designed for laying bombs within 60 feet of target on low-level runs. That's excellent for nuclear weapons. It's not good enough when using conventional iron bombs.

Military men say it's essential to get a bombing system for U. S. fighter-bombers that will lay iron bombs within 15 or 20 feet of what they aim at.

What's needed is some sort of heat-seeking or pilot-guided missile. The planes need automatic pilots for their runs and highly efficient radar.

In fast-moving guerrilla battles, mobile ground units find they can't determine where they are quickly with very small errors.

This frequently makes rapid effective air support impossible. Supply is slowed in critical battles. Fighter-bombers run into fire ground forces could otherwise warn against.

Pilots must be given much better ways to locate Viet Cong guerrilla troops and supplies hidden under trees, in caves or camouflaged boats. The problem is especially critical in bad weather and at night.

Solution: Better coordinated ground-air operations in which the man on the ground sneaks in and pinpoints hidden guerrilla targets then, while on the spot, guides the planes in. This again requires infantryman and pilot to know precisely where the other is. (Ground-air television may be part of the answer.)

Tanks, armored personnel carriers and artillery are largely roadbound in guerrilla base areas. If the United States is determined to use this type of weapon in this kind of war, a new breed of equipment will have to be developed able to better perform tank-armored personnel carrier-artillery functions through swamps, jungles and rivers.

Some air and ground equipment which does exceeding well in laboratory and U. S. field testing isn't holding up over Viet Nam-type fighting.

Fulton's Clermont left New York City (Aug. 17, 1807) at one o'clock in the afternoon, so history tells us, and traveling some five miles an hour, stopping once for and hour to repair some detail in the machine, and then once more for wood for fuel, and arriving at Clearmont to stay overnight, then on to Albany arriving on Aug. 19. I decided this first voyage, the Clermont passed Kingston on Aug. 18, 1807. I checked it with Captain Hickey and I hope I am right. I worked out an illustrated envelope cover with information "Robert Fulton's Clermont which passed Kingston, N. Y. ## DO YOU REMEMBER

BY SOPHIE MILLER

No doubt many readers have saved a Hudson-Fulton stamp. (2 cents) issue 1909. Now on Aug. 19, 1965 there will be a Fulton stamp (5 cents) issued at our own Central Post Office in Kingston and I understand, will be postmarked Clermont.

No doubt many readers will take advantage of it, by having their envelopes with monies for the five-cent Fulton stamp at the Central Post Office left Aug. 19, to receive this postmark. I never took advantage of this special postal service, but through the kindness of historian and author Captain Andrew Hickey, I have several "Cape Canaveral Feb. 20, 3:30 p.m. 1962 Fla. First Day off Issue, Project Mercury four cent stamped envelopes."

My interest in stamps has been confined to Vanderly's 2 cent, 1892 the Landing of Columbus, and whenever I can get a batch of used ones, I share them with my readers. My grandfather did have some stamps, from before the first World War, and I still have them, and do not know their worth. My father used to save some from time to time, and I kept pretty ones now and then. I do have some books on stamps, one 1938, 1947 and the Postage Stamps of the U.S.A. 1847-1949 for reference. I was at the Kingston Stamp Exhibition at the Governor Clinton Hotel on May 2, where I became interested and bought some FDR cachet covers, first day issues from H. Kaplan of Brooklyn. Later I thought it would be interesting to have a cachet, or illustrated envelope or cover in some way representing Fulton's Clermont passing Kingston, N. Y. in 1807.

I do not even know what the Fulton stamp will look like. I have seen a portrait of Fulton by Benjamin West, American portrait artist who lived in London. ## Court Ruling Concerning Reds Holding Union Posts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States, by a 5-to-4 vote, has just ruled, in effect, that members of the Communist party cannot be prevented from holding office in labor unions and causing political strikes in national emergencies. The law which Congress passed has been declared invalid.

This means that, although the Communist party in the United States is dedicated to the objective of bringing about the overthrow of the American government, its members cannot be prevented from carrying out their purposes of subtle methods of intrigue and control over labor unions.

Many countries are today suffering from Communist control of labor organizations, and in the last several years Congress has attempted by statute to prevent such control from being achieved in this country. In fact, a government agency, known as the Subversive Activities Control Board, has found that the Communist party's "principal leaders and a substantial number of its members are subject to and recognize the disciplinary power of the Soviet Union and its representatives," and that there is evidence of the domination and control of the Communist party here by the Soviet Union for the purpose of advancing "the objectives of the world Communist movement."

The Supreme Court did uphold the findings of the Subversive Activities Control Board in several cases nearly 10 years ago, but now the new ruling of the Supreme Court raises the question of whether even the Subversive Activities Control Act will become taboo by a future Supreme Court ruling. Justice White, who was joined in his dissenting opinion in the case this week by Justices Clark, Harlan and Stewart, said that the reasons given by the court for invalidating the law that prohibited Communists from holding office in labor unions can also be applied throughout the government. He said:

"By the same token, a statute disqualifying Communists, or authorizing the executive branch to do so, from holding sensitive positions in the government would be automatically invalid, as would a requirement that employees of the Central Intelligence Agency or the National Security Agency disclaim membership in the Communist party, unless in each case it is proved by evidence other than membership in the Communist party, the nature of which has already been adjudicated, that the individual would commit acts of disloyalty or subordinate his official undertakings to the interests of the party."

What this means is that in the future it will have to be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the court in each instance that a Communist has the intention of actually doing something to overthrow the government.

The four dissenting members of the court ask how it is possible to prove that a person intends to become disloyal. Their opinion continues:

"The Communist party's illiberal purpose and its domination by foreign power have already been adjudicated. Both administratively and judicially. If this does not in itself provide a sufficient probability with respect to the individual who persists in remaining a member of the party, or if a probability is in any event insufficient, what evidence will be sufficient to apprehend in the act of calling one political strike or in one act of disloyalty before steps can be taken to exclude him from office, there is little or nothing left of the preventive or prophylactic function. . . .

"Examples of statutes that will now be suspect because of the court's ruling were, until today, unanimously accepted as legitimate exercises of legislative power could easily be multiplied. Such a catalogue in itself would lead one to inquire whether the court's reasoning does not contain some flaw that explains such perverse results."

The Supreme Court rulings have in recent years been making it more and more difficult to get at the Communists. There is a tendency on the part of the justices to regard the Communist party as just another political party like the Republican or the Democratic. What is not recognized apparently is that a political party, even to be a normal expression of political viewpoints, when it is transformed into an abnormal instrument designed to overthrow the American government itself by subversion or by actual force.

The majority in the latest Supreme Court ruling—consisting of Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas, Brennan and Goldberg—contend that the language of the law inflicts a punishment on individuals in preventing them from holding office in a labor union and that while an individual can be convicted of disloyalty, he cannot be prevented from holding office in a labor union merely because he belongs to an organization that seeks the overthrow of the United States government. It is judicial technicality carried to extremes.

Lower Request Made For Kinzua Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower than expected contract bids have prompted the Army engineers to reduce by $1.6 million their request for funds to continue construction of the Allegheny River Reservoir at Kinzua, Pa.

Testimony made public today by the House Appropriations Committee disclosed that the Army requested only $15.9 million for the work during the fiscal year which begins July 1 compared with President Johnson's request in January for $17.5 million.

Brig. Gen. Walter P. Leber, Ohio River division engineer, told the committee that low bids on clearing the reservoir in Pennsylvania and New York prompted the move.

Congress appropriated $20.25 million for work on the dam at Kinzua, Pa., and the reservoir it will create to Salamanca, N.Y., during the fiscal year which ends June 30.

Construction is nearing completion and the engineers estimated they will need only $8,364,000 more to finish the job if Congress approves the $15.9 million for the next fiscal year.

The U.S. Liberty head dime was designed by Charles E. Barber, chief engraver of the mint, in the 1890s.

Solons Plan Hike In 'Lulus' for Longer Session

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the Legislature are planning to increase their "lulus"—annual expense allowances—on the ground the current, prolonged session has added tremendously to their away-from-home living costs.

Legislative leaders have been sympathetic to the complaints of rank-and-file members that they cannot make ends meet for the 5½-month session on the $1,000 expense account that normally is expected to cover a 3-month session.

Informed sources told the Associated Press that the living allowance for lawmakers would be increased in the supplemental state budget to be passed before the session adjourns June 17.

The expense payments are popularly known as "lulus"—blanket payments in lieu of itemized expenses.

The amount of the increase has not been determined. Unofficial estimates ranged from $500 to $1,000 additional.

The normal, $1,000 allowance is in addition to the $10,000 annual salary paid every member of the Legislature.

The expense money is used for hotel, meals and other expenses while in Albany during the session.

Astro's Dad Fears He's Too Old for Flight to Moon

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edward H. White wishes he could join his son, America's spacewalking astronaut, on his next trip — "to the moon."

White, retired eight years ago and qualified to fly everything from balloons to bombers, said spacehops came a little too late for his generation.

"I'd like to go," he said Monday night, "but I guess I'm too old. I thought Ed had a ball all the way."

The mother and father of astronaut Edward H. White II said the four-day flight did not upset them. They watched television in their fashionable home on a nearby island, talking with daughter-in-law Pat White, and played golf.

"I got to thinking out there while I played nine holes, my son went around the world," said White.

"His greatest, proudest moments lie still ahead. If he really wants to go to the moon, and if I know my son, he'll make it."

Warns East N. Y. Of Serious Water Situation in Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern New York, struggling in a drought that is in its fourth year, is included in an area that geologists say must get excessive amounts of rain this summer or face a serious situation in the fall.

The warning for the New York area, southern New England, eastern Pennsylvania and northern New Jersey, came Monday from Edward R. Leeson, assistant chief of the U.S. Geological Survey's water resources division.

"Unless summer rainfall is considerably and consistently above normal, levels in wells and streams are likely to drop to all-time lows in October," he said.

Proposal to Up Drinking Age Is Beaten in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Advocates of measures to raise New York State's legal drinking age from 18 to 21 conceded defeat in the Legislature today.

The only age-21 bill to be brought to a vote was rejected overwhelmingly in the Assembly Monday night.

The issue was consigned to the legislative scrap heap, however, as the 1965 session mounted its drive for adjournment on June 17.

The Democratic majorities swept aside Republican demands for an earlier adjournment on June 9 and voted in Assembly last night to ring down the curtain at 2 p.m. on June 17.

In the adjournment drive, the Assembly gave final legislative approval Monday to a stricter code of ethics for state lawmakers and their employees.

Parents Planning Rendezvous With Astronaut Son

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — There was excited talk about their son flying to the moon some day, but the parents of space pilot James A. McDivitt were more interested today in plans to join him in Houston.

The astronaut's father, James A. McDivitt Sr., said the family may be able to leave Wednesday to see their son.

Astronaut McDivitt will need a couple of days first to report to space agency officials. And President Johnson has invited him and his fellow Gemini 4 rider, Edward H. White II, "down to the ranch" for the weekend.

"It's been a tense four days, but it's been the most beautiful four days in my entire life," said Margaret McDivitt, the astronaut's mother.

With their vigil over, the senior McDivitt said he intended to begin work on a high stack of letters.

Many, he said, were from old friends he had not heard from in a long time.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gordon Alderman, program and public service director of WHEN-TV here and a broadcast consultant for the National Council of Churches, suffered a fatal heart attack Monday in Washington, D.C.

Alderman, 49, was attending a Columbia Broadcasting System meeting when he was stricken.

Alderman, a native of Syracuse, was graduated from Syracuse University in 1935. He entered the radio business in 1941 and had been with WHEN-TV since 1951.

Look to Weekend Rendezvous

Astronaut Families Invited To Visit President at Ranch

By MIKE COCHRAN

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The vivacious wives of Gemini 4 astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II anxiously awaited today a weekend rendezvous with America's newest space heroes.

Both also had presidential invitations to visit the LBJ Ranch with their husbands Friday or Saturday.

In the dramatic aftermath of the four-day Gemini flight, the attractive young wives laughed and cried without restraint.

They talked jubilantly of a reunion near the weekend, of quiet and lively celebrations ahead, and of their personal observations during the 98-hour ordeal.

Then they thanked one and all for the concern shown for the safety of their husbands.

"I can't tell you how proud I am," beamed honey-blonde Pat White as she hugged her two children, Eddie, 11, and Bonnie Lynn, 9.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Pat McDivitt, a brunette, struggled for words as she attempted to corral her three impish youngsters, then finally blurted: "I'm speechless, I'm speechless."

She swiftly corrected a newsman who asked about the strain she had undergone. "I wasn't upset," she said. "This was great. You just don't know."

The oldest McDivitt child, Mike, 8, told his excited mother: "You never talked that loud before."

Freckle-faced Patrick, 4, and sister, Ann, 6, fidgeted throughout the interview, then dashed off to neighborhood play spots which had been off limits to them since Thursday.

Mrs. White stepped from her home with tears in her eyes.

"I always cry when I'm happy, and I've had several good ones," she said.

Neither wife expressed great fears for her husband's safety, although Mrs. White admitted she was "sure glad when that hatch was closed" after his 20-minute space stroll.

She said this was the most thrilling and anxious moment of the flight.

Both wives said they had no worries about future space ventures by their husbands, but not for themselves.

"I don't even like to fly in an airplane," Mrs. McDivitt announced.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — While his fellow stars are anxiously making deals to produce films for their own companies, Glenn Ford is negotiating a multipicture contract with MGM — strictly as an actor.

That's the kind of guy he is. Let the other fellows sit behind desk; Glenn figures his place in the movie business is before the camera.

Always Company Man
"Oh, I had my own company once — for 'pocketful of Miracles' with Frank Capra's company," he said. "But hell, no actor is going to tell Frank Capra how to make a picture. He has forgotten more about movie making than most directors remember."

For nearly all his 26-year career he has been a company man. His first contract at Columbia lasted 21 years, minus three and a half for the marines. His deal with MGM, which overlapped his Columbia contract, recently finished after a dozen years. Don't get the idea that Glenn has been a docile employee; he has earned battle stars for his encounters with the brass. But he retains a philosophy that runs counter to his producer-star brethren.

"I think film actors are better off when they are in the hands of a strong director. When actors are coddled and catered to, they lose their sense of reality. If you don't applaud after their closeups, they go into their dressing rooms and sulk."

Needs Strong Controls
"An actor needs strong controls, and that means a no-nonsense director who will tell him what to do. John Ford and John Wayne are the best example of that; they've both been good for each other."

"I've always had my best luck with strong directors. Take a man like George Marshall. We've done five or six pictures together and he's great for me. I've worked for some of the toughest directors in the business, and I've profited from them. I'd love to work for some of the other tough ones — guys like John Ford and Henry Hathaway. I'd even like to work for Otto Preminger."

Range of Work Is Wide

Supreme Court Decisions Are of Historic Nature

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court handed down some historic decisions in the 1964-65 term ending Monday but escaped the torrential abuse of other years for a simple reason. It did not poke around much in the highly sensitive fields of religion and politics. Thus, with no new logs on the fire, all the talk of curbing the court or undoing its decisions once more got nowhere.

Again this court, as it has since Chief Justice Earl Warren took his seat in 1954, continued to broaden its protection of individual rights and liberties. Yet, the range of its work was wide.

Here were some of its most memorable actions:

In the first test of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the court upheld the public-accommodations section requiring restaurants and motels to serve all races if the restaurants' customers or food move in interstate commerce.

Two years ago the court, extending constitutional protections to state criminal trials, said a defendant had a right to an attorney in all key stages of the proceedings.

Can Question Witnesses
This year the court extended this by ruling a defendant in such a trial had a right to face and question witnesses against him.

The court barred state judges and prosecutors from commenting to juries if a defendant — exercising his constitutional right to say nothing — refused to take the stand in his own defense.

But the court also decided a defendant's constitutional right to trial by jury does not include the right to demand a trial without jury in a criminal case when either the prosecutor or judge does not agree.

One of the most sensational decisions came Monday when the court threw out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes on a Texas swindling charge because his trial was televised.

Against Television
"A defendant on trial for a specific crime," the court said, "is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium or a city or a national arena. Trial by television is therefore foreign to our system."

But some justices indicated this is not the last word on televised trials.

And the court in effect upheld the California Supreme Court in overturning the conviction of a convict, who stabbed a fellow-prisoner to death, because the confession used against him was taken by officers who did not advise him of his right to an attorney and his right to stay silent.

In 1962 and 1964 the court created a political revolution by its reapportionment decisions which said election to the U.S. House of Representatives and both houses in a state legislature must be made more democratic by giving all voters an equal voice. The court didn't add to them this year. It just stood pat.

In 1962 and 1963 the court brought the roof down by barring official prayers in public schools and of a pledge of allegiance containing the words "under God."

On Visit to Cuba

And the court upheld the State Department in refusing a ski resort operator a passport to Cuba. He said his only reason for going was to be informed. The department says only those can go whose travel might serve this country's interest.

The court, voiding a Louisiana requirement that would-be voters must satisfactorily interpret the U.S. or state constitutions, said this test was part of a plan to deprive Negroes of their right to vote. Louisiana has abandoned this requirement but other states have similar ones.

In the labor field the court said an employer may shut down his business for any reason — he might not want to deal with a union — but he may not shut down just a part of it to avoid dealing.

Yet, the court agreed unanimously that when an employer reaches a dead-end in negotiations with a union for a new contract, he can lock out the employees temporarily to put economic pressure on the union.

Further, the court ruled unconstitutional a federal law making it a crime for a Communist to serve as an official of a labor union; and it said unions

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 8, the 159th day of 1965. There are 206 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt sent notes to Japan and Russia, offering to help in negotiations for peace. The appeal led to the conference at Portsmouth, N.H., ending the Russo-Japanese war.

On this date in 1758, Lord Jeffrey Amherst and his army landed in Nova Scotia.

On this date in 1809, the political philosopher of the American Revolution, Thomas Paine, died.

In 1872, Penny post cards were authorized by an act of Congress.

In 1917, Gen. John J. Pershing arrived in London in World War I.

In 1944, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's headquarters announced the capture of Bayeux, the first town to be liberated in Normandy.

Ten years ago — announcement was made that the real estate firm of Webb and Knapp had taken an option to build a $100 million "Palace of Progress" over New York City's Pennsylvania Railroad station.

Five years ago — The Argentine government demanded Israel return Adolf Eichmann, captured by Israeli agents on charges of leading the Nazi attempt to exterminate the Jews of Europe.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business expansion plans are themselves expanding. And such spending is expected to hit its fastest pace in the final months of the year.

These record outlays can spread through many segments of the national economy, pepping up sales and production for many industries from metals to business services.

This is one of the most reassuring prospects in this period of uncertainty in the stock markets and of economic pulse-taking in many quarters.

Scaling upward of capital spending plans is reported by a survey of business intentions by the Commerce Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission. Outlays are expected to rise to $32 billion at an annual rate in the final months of 1965. This stimulant to the economy in the months just ahead will be welcomed by those who now are having a case of nerves.

A corollary statistic on the current situation is the Census Bureau's report that construction outlays are running 3 per cent ahead of the first five months of 1964. Actual expenditures so far this year have been $21.6 billion. Construction is only a part of business capital spending and it also takes in other private and government activity.

Pointing to an increase in such construction spending in coming months is the awarding of contracts. This also has turned upward and is well-ahead of year ago figures.

Together the capital spending intentions and the actual construction testify to general confidence in industrial and commercial circles that the future will bring increased demands for their products and services.

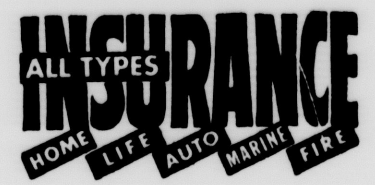

Construction's widespread influence is shown in its effects on the output of other industries. This ranges from about two-thirds of total demand for heating, plumbing and structural metal products and better than 50 per cent for stone and clay products, to about 5 per cent for glass and glass products and paper and allied products and about 7 per cent for petroleum refining and related industries.

In between are sizable percentages that construction outlays mean for the production of lumber and wood, mining and quarrying, electric lighting and wiring, iron and steel manufacturing, nonferrous metal products, paints and a 10 per cent gain for business services.

The latest survey of capital spending plans shows a larger percentage expected to go into actual expansion this year than recently, and comparatively less for modernization that dominated such spending in the last three or four years.

The government survey estimates the outlays for the year at $50.4 billion, up 12.3 per cent from 1964's record. Earlier in the year the government forecast was for a rise of 11.8 per cent.

Report Lawford, Pat Decide on Legal Separation

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Peter Lawford and his wife, the former Pat Kennedy, have decided on a legal separation, according to Time magazine.

The Kennedy family declined comment on the report. Lawford could not be reached for comment.

Time said that Lawford, 39, and the late President John F. Kennedy's sister, 41, have been living apart for several months—he in Hollywood and she in New York. They have three children, staying with Mrs. Lawford.

The magazine added: "Now, according to a close family source, Roman Catholics Peter and Pat have decided, after 11 years of marriage, to make the separation permanent and legal."

Scoffs at Word Taylor to Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that nothing especially critical brought Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor home for consultations on the fighting in South Viet Nam.

"It is useful to have Ambassador Taylor here from time to time to review developments," Rusk told reporters. He brushed aside any suggestion Taylor might resign.

While the rainy season has produced an upsurge of Viet Cong aggression, Rusk added, he wouldn't call the South Vietnamese losses "massive."

And he added that the rainy season presents problems for the Communists as well as the South Vietnamese and U. S. forces.

"It will interfere with our air operations," Rusk said, "but it will also slow down the movement of supplies from North Viet Nam."

Rusk talked with newsmen before going into a closed session of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee considering appropriations to finance the operation of the State Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Ulster Businessmen Will Meet Tonight

At a meeting of the Ulster Business Men's Association to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at Angelo's Restaurant, President Edward VanSise reports two important topics will be discussed.

One of the matter for discussion will be possible action which may be taken for a review of the Kingston-Ulster scheduled bus service proposal which was turned down by the Public Service Commission. Members of the Association feel that this is of sufficient importance to warrant a review by the Commission and possible action toward that end will be discussed.

Chairman Ronald Every of the committee which has in charge the bus trip to Shea Stadium, sponsored by the Old Timers Baseball Association, will have an important report.

Search Continues

Search for the body of Louis Nicaiek, 57, of 36 Winfield Street, Poughkeepsie, was being continued today by sheriff's deputies.

Nicaiek apparently drowned Saturday afternoon when a boat in which he was a passenger capsized off the Highland shore of the Hudson. His companion, Michael Dutcher, 45 Delafield Street, Poughkeepsie, was able to gain shore. The 12-foot boat capsized 100 feet off the shore near the Highland Marina.

Heal-in Salved Sore Problems Remain in L-A

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The "heal-in" at mammoth Los Angeles County General Hospital is over. The sore problems that caused it have only been salved, not solved.

Interns and resident doctors at the towering, 3,000-bed complex recently deliberately increased its patient population.

They admitted more patients than usual and discharged fewer. From a May 1-24 average of 2,441, the number rose to 2,991 May 25.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the Interns and Residents Association at the hospital, says it was to dramatize demands for more facilities and help and for better pay.

Interns get $300, first-year residents $419 a month. They work the national average of $3,000 a week, Boggs said.

The heal-in tapered off to 2,658 patients by latest count, which the hospital says is within normal range.

The County Board of Supervisors ordered an investigation by county officials.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., thinks it's high time France settled its $6.5-billion World War I debt to the United States.

"It's time we started talking to France" again about settling the matter, Fulbright told a Treasury Department witness Monday.

Shortly afterward, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which Fulbright heads approved a plan to allow Greece to settle a $13,155,921 debt to the United States. That stemmed from a 1929 loan for refugee resettlement.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has urged Britain and Russia to clear quickly a major obstacle to an international conference on Cambodia.

The conference would be designed to guarantee the territorial integrity and neutrality of the Southeast Asian nation. The meeting has been stymied by differences over whether Viet Nam—North and South—should be represented.

Mansfield said the problem can be solved because of Cambodian Prince Sihanouk's statement, in effect, that he would agree to any alternative the larger powers might decide upon.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hunzarian Communist government helped ease the return to earth Monday of the U.S. Gemini astronauts.

U.S. officials said the Hungarians suspended a Budapest radio broadcast operating on a frequency which might have interfered with base-to-ship communications during the splash-down period.

Ulster Hose Acquires Replacement Pumper

Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster, has received and placed in commission a replacement fire truck in place of the one badly damaged while responding to a car fire on May 31.

Commissioner Paul Werner, following the accident to the company's truck, immediately began to contact possible replacements. One truck was located in Maryland and another was available in New Jersey.

Arrangements were made to acquire the 750-gallon pumper from New Jersey where the piece of equipment had been replaced by a new pumper. The original pumper was badly damaged on the evening of May 31 when it overturned on Route 9W while responding to a fire. Six persons were injured when the fire apparatus struck a car about a half mile north of the intersection with Route 199. Joseph B. Senor, 43, was operating the engine at the time of the accident.

Mayone Denies Plans to Quit As City Leader

John Ray Mayone, recently named Republican City Chairman to fill the vacancy created when Alderman-at-Large Joseph Carroll Jr., resigned the city chairmanship, today announced that he "fully intends" to remain in the post of city chairman throughout the rest of this campaign. Mayone said a rumor he was planning to resign the post is "absolutely unfounded."

"A rumor has been circulated today that I am planning to resign as City Chairman of the Republican Party at tomorrow night's meeting at the City Republican Committee," Mayone said.

"This rumor is absolutely unfounded, is without any truth at all. I have absolutely no intention of resigning from my post as City Chairman, either now or in the future."

"There has been some discussion concerning a possible conflict between my job and my post as City Republican Chairman. This is absolutely ridiculous, there is no possible conflict between the two."

"I fully intend to remain in the post of City Chairman throughout the rest of this campaign, and my only plan is to work for a Republican Victory in November."

Margaretville Man Will Work Off Term

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two members of Jehovah's Witnesses, who previously had pleaded guilty to failure to report for civilian work in lieu of military service, went separate ways Monday at their sentencing in U.S. District Court.

Daniel W. Danelorich, 20, of Johnstown, again refused the work alternative and was sentenced to two years imprisonment.

Harold D. All, 26, of Margaretville, however, agreed to work at Rochester General Hospital and was placed on two years probation.

Federal law requires that persons who refuse military service because of religious reasons must fulfill their obligation in civilian employment specified by the government.

WHAT IS IT?—This vehicle could be a truck, but it might not be. In Orland, Calif., rancher Otto Rehse, who owns it, says the motorized feed van is an instrument of husbandry. The California Highway Patrol, which gave Rehse a ticket for allowing the van to be driven on a public road, says the vehicle is a truck. The rancher asked for a jury trial and the result should determine if the van is exempt from the usual registration requirements.

Engineers Back JFK Proposal on Fund for Dams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Engineers have generally supported Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in his attempt to win congressional approval of $100,000 to begin planning two dams in the Susquehanna River Basin.

In a statement submitted to the House Appropriations Committee, they did not request funds for either project but said there is no need to wait until 1969 to begin work on them.

The engineers said proposed dams at Davenport Center and Geneseeville would be compatible with plans for over-all improvement of the river. Their statement was made public today by the committee.

Two New York Democrats, Reps. Samuel S. Stratton and John G. Dow, asked the committee last month to reject Kennedy's request for $50,000 to begin planning the Davenport Center Dam and $40,000 to plan the Geneseeville project. Both congressmen noted local opposition to the projects.

On another matter, the engineers reduced by $350,000 the amount needed to complete deepening Oswego harbor to 27 feet during the coming fiscal year.

Lower than expected bids prompted the engineers to request only $600,000 to complete work compared with the $1.04 million requested earlier this year by President Johnson.

Brig. Gen. Roy T. Dodge, north central division engineer, said favorable bids will also result in a saving of $100,000 in rehabilitating piers at Little Sodus Bay harbor 15 miles east of Oswego.

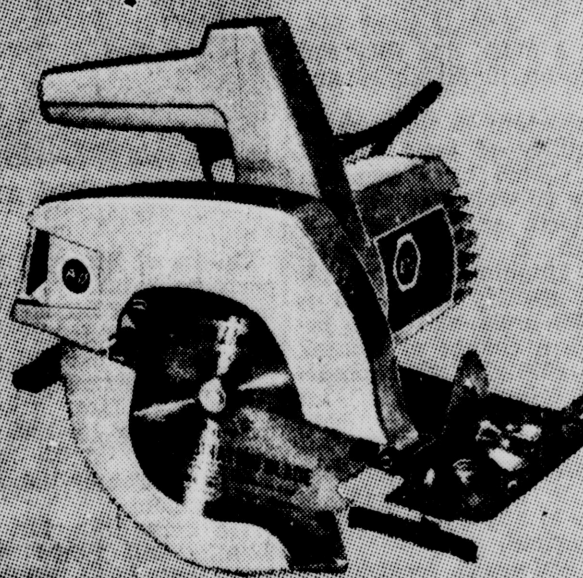

The engineers said they could complete the work next fiscal year with $510,000.

Senate Approves Measure Giving Nurses Protection

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Nurses would join doctors as legal "good samaritans" under a bill approved by the Senate and sent to Gov. Rockefeller.

Under the measure, approved

39-19 Monday, the "good samaritan" law, passed last year to cover doctors, would be extended to nurses. The law would protect nurses against law suits when they give emergency treatment to accident victims.

As the Legislature was completing passage of that measure, Rockefeller sent to the lawmakers a bill to establish a two-mile wide park that would follow the Hudson River from the southern Adirondacks to New York harbor.

The bill would establish the Hudson River Valley Scenic and Historic Corridor, and direct the Hudson River Valley Commission to recommend by next Feb. 2 steps to "protect and enhance the scenic, historic and cultural resources of the corridor."

In other legislative actions

Monday, The Senate passed and sent to the governor a bill designed to protect women against job discrimination because of their sex and assure them equal pay for doing the same work as men.

The Senate unanimously endorsed an Assembly bill that would bring private clubs and non-profit institutions under existing laws prohibiting discrimination in employment because of race, creed or color.

The Assembly passed, 138-2, and sent to Rockefeller a measure that would authorize emergency sale of automotive supplies on Sunday.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki said he opposed the original "good samaritan" law but urged passage of the nurses bill because "once we gave this to doctors, there's no reason why nurses shouldn't have it, too."

The measure, like the one for doctors, would automatically relieve nurses of liability unless "gross negligence" can be shown.

The proposed park, bordering the Hudson River, was announced Saturday by Rockefeller. The corridor would extend one mile inland on either side of the river and would link the Adirondack and Catskill parks.

There has been no cost estimate or timetable announced for the project.

Science fiction film fans could have the time of their lives in Trieste, Italy, from June 10 to 17 this year. Dozens of the fantasy movies will be shown in an International Festival of Science-Fantasy Films organized by the local tourist bureau.

Wedding Information

Through the years, The Freeman has extended the courtesy of publishing wedding stories and will continue to do so. Since many questions arise about procedure during the year, the following information may prove helpful.

In order to print an accurate story, a standard wedding form is made available. These will be mailed upon request.

For best coverage, the form and accompanying picture should reach the Society Editor's desk at least a day BEFORE THE WEDDING. Pictures for publication must be submitted in advance or WITHIN TEN DAYS after the wedding. Pictures must be of the bride alone. Snapshots are not acceptable.

In keeping with good taste, only highlights of gown and floral descriptions should be submitted.

A definite date for publication cannot be given unless the photo and wedding form are submitted in advance of the wedding.

SUITABLE CLOTHES FOR TRAVELING

In answer to the many readers who have asked for help in planning a suitable wardrobe for traveling, there are two main considerations — space and weight. Nothing takes up more space or weighs more than handbags and shoes. If you can plan your costumes so that one pair of the most comfortable, sturdy shoes available for sightseeing can be exchanged in the evening for a pump of the same color, your packing and overweight problems will be almost solved. The handbags with changeable covers are ideal for traveling. You may carry the handbag itself onto the boat or plane and pack only the lightweight covers. For evening, a small flat silk or satin bag will look well with any costume and add little to the weight of your suitcase.

Dresses of wrinkle-proof material are a must, and they can now be found in all styles and weights. It is important to think about the versatility of your clothes. Sweaters should be chosen because they go well with all your skirts, shorts and dresses. A skirt with a matching coat makes a stunning costume for cruise or country wear and is better than dress and coat, because with change of blouses, the skirt can give the appearance of several outfits. One rarely needs an evening dress when traveling, but a sleeveless cocktail dress with a jacket may be worn in any restaurant or theater or at any party to which you are invited.

Shorts and slacks, incidentally, are never worn by foreign women except at such resorts as the Riviera, and therefore American women should "in Rome do as the Romans" or they will appear conspicuous and typically tourist. So, if you are traveling on the continent rather than on a cruise ship (where the same clothes are appropriate as those worn in any resort at home), save space by not taking more shorts than you will need for the day or two you plan to spend in Cannes. But don't forget a bathing suit—even a wetsuit can provide a refreshing relief from the heat of southern France, Italy, or Spain in summer, and swimming pools and lakes are found near resort hotels all over the world.

Dear Abby . . .

The Power Of The Press!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago you had an item in your column telling the party who had picked up her beauty operator's favorite hairbrush please to return it quietly and there would be no questions asked, as someone had witnessed her little stunt. Well, Abby, I am not the beauty operator who wrote to you with that problem, but someone did steal my favorite hairbrush about a year ago, and one day last week it suddenly was back in my drawer. So thanks a lot.

LUCY AT THE LOOKING GLASS

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a coincidence! A hairbrush bearing my initials in nail polish was mailed to me (no return address) in care of the beauty parlor where I was employed over four years ago. I am no longer at that shop, as I now have a shop of my own, but the package was forwarded to me. I couldn't figure it out as it was just an ordinary hairbrush and I never even missed it. The mystery was solved when one of my operators told me about an article which ran in your column about a month ago. Although I am not the person who wrote to you about the missing hairbrush, I thought you might get a laugh out of knowing that someone apparently had a very guilty conscience.

MADALAINE IN ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every once in a while and get a big kick out of it, but I would never dream of writing to a newspaper columnist for advice on a personal problem. However, you did me a big favor and I want to thank you for it.

Last week a hairbrush that had been missing for nearly three years suddenly turned up in my booth. After inquiring around the shop as to how it got there, no one seemed to know, but several of the kids in the shop told me that a "confidential" message appeared in your column not long ago telling the lady who had slipped her hairdresser's favorite brush into her purse please to return it quietly and no questions

Reaction to Space Flight:

There's Bound to Be One In Which Tragedy Occurs

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS
AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — America's latest and longest space flight has come to a happy ending, as have all others before it. Nevertheless, space officials agree, there is always an element of risk in such bold ventures into the void.

How do Air Force Maj. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, who Monday completed their four-day Gemini flight, feel about this aspect of their jobs?

They talked freely about it in an interview shortly before their mission.

That Old Song
"There is an old fighter pilot's song that expresses it pretty well," McDivitt, 35, said. "We had it on a bulletin board in Korea."

White, 34, who did the now famous space walk, took it up from there with occasional prompting from McDivitt. "It went like this:

"Don't worry, you have two chances. Either you'll return to the squadron or you won't. If you return, no sweat. If you don't, you still have two chances. You'll get rescued or you won't. If you do, no sweat. If you don't, you'll get captured or you won't."

"Well, anyway," said McDivitt, "it finally says you'll either live or you won't. If you live, no sweat, and if you don't you've still got two chances. I thought it was really appropriate."

McDivitt continued: "Somebody is going to get killed on one. This is my personal opinion. I think that eventually we're going to have one that's not going to work successfully."

"You know the airlines are so safe, but every once in a while, one crashes and the same thing with jet fighters and everything else."

"I think the big problem is not how the flight crews are going to react to it, because we've been through this kind of thing many times before."

Public His Concern

"The thing that concerns me is how the American public would react to it. You know they have to accept this kind of thing. It might be a minor thing. Maybe the booster just stops running and a couple of guys eject and it's all over, or it could be a lot worse than that, but we've got to accept the fact that eventually this is going to happen."

"Even if we had .9999 reliability, eventually you get to that one point that makes it 1.0." White said. "If it happens, we wouldn't want it to hold up the space program."

Must Continue

"We have to keep progressing. Just think what would happen if the first time somebody got hurt in an airplane we'd stopped fooling around with airplanes. We'd be the most backward country in the world right now."

McDivitt said, "As we fly more and more spacecraft we're going to have one come down and we're probably going to lose somebody in it."

"I've always figured, well, it could happen to somebody else, you know. And it always has, so far."

Mrs. Armater Is Head of Pageant Hostess Group

Mrs. Helen Davenport, vice president of Pageant, Inc., sponsor of the Miss New York Pageant here on July 1, 2, and 3, today announced the appointment of Mrs. Raymond J. Armater as chairman of the Hostess Committee.

This committee consists of 35 ladies of the Kingston area. They help look after the requirements of the contestants from all parts of New York State while in Kingston. This service of looking after the contestants is a very important phase of the Miss New York program and contributes substantially to the smooth and easy manner in which it is conducted, the committee states.

The first major task faced by Mrs. Davenport and Mrs. Armater was the actual selection of the women who will comprise the hostess committee for the 1965 Pageant in Kingston.

Thirty-five women were selected and invited to become part of the hostess committee on the basis of the following:

1. General intelligence
2. Ability to get along easily and well with people
3. Ability to respond instantly and without question to a directive
4. Ability to use good judgement
5. Ability to decline to gossip or speculate
6. Ability to take the time away from their families, as hostesses serve from early morning until late at night each Pageant day
7. Prominence in the community either socially or for their civic achievement
8. And, naturally, then courtesy, good manners and good grooming.

The response to the invitations was most gratifying and immediate. The tasks facing the hostesses are most arduous since each hostess is assigned to a contestant, escorting her to and from the pageant events, advising and assisting her in every way possible.

They work with the production staff of the Pageant to see that all Pageant functions are carried out on time and the hostesses encourage their girls with their own enthusiasm, wise counsel and support.

Hostesses will also extend the hospitality of Kingston to the mothers, chaperones and guests from the contestants' home cities by escorting them around town and suggesting historic places for them to see. The visitors will be made to feel welcome and well cared for while visiting Kingston. As an example of this activity, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaffkin in Old Hurley will give a luncheon in honor of the contestants on Saturday afternoon of the Pageant weekend.

Generally the hostess committee will be responsible for the over all hospitality and welfare provided to the contestants, their parents and chaperones visiting this fair city on July 1, 2 and 3.

While the hours are long, the experiences sometimes challenging, the rewards are many for the women selected to compose the hostess committee for the Miss New York Pageant.

The Other Day

A doctor told this one: A stranger was invited to a dance at a Deaf and Dumb hospital. He asked, "How in the world do I ask a deaf and dumb girl to dance?" "Simple," said the doctor, "just walk up."

LeRoy M. Griggs smile and President how to her."

So the young man selected a pretty girl, smiled, bowed to her, and away they danced. After three silent dances he was wondering how to ask for another. Just then the doctor approached and said to the pretty girl, "Dear, when are we going to have another dance?" She replied lovingly, "I don't know, Dearest, I don't know how to get rid of this deaf and dumb Romeo!" Well, you see, that's what comes from taking things for granted. # Spring Beauties Glow in New Hairdos and Make-Up moments. The long-haired lass, center, makes use of the postiche or wiglet to set off her simple, everyday hairdo for spring galas.

By ALICIA HART, Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

Can spring stand the competition from the gals this year?

Fashion always offers a garden-fresh choice of colors and fabrics, but the look is not complete without the proper make-up and hairdo.

This season, the au courant woman will turn out in natural make-up for a glowing look. Favored hairdos give an almost-little-girl appearance, or one of sleek sophistication.

Whichever hairstyle she chooses, it will be extremely well-cut, basically simple.

Bangs, or fringes as the British call them, go hand-in-hand with the shorter, layered boyish cut. For dress-up, there will be jeweled clips or colorful beads twined through her cropped hair.

The long-haired lass will use the postiche or wiglet to top off her simpler, everyday hairdo.

Proper make-up is vital to take away what could be a severe look in spring hairstyles.

A make-up artist for DuBarry uses several shades of eye color as a starter. A no-color eye base is brushed on the entire lid.

Topping this is a moss green, applied over the eyelid to just below the brow. A fern-green shade goes on top of this and a darker shade of green is smoothed close to the lashes.

A gold lace compressed eye shadow is the finishing touch.

Lipsticks for spring will be richer with multicolors of tawneys, browns and yellows, pinks and reds. The truly pale will brush on their blushes.

All in all, the look for spring is a fresh, healthy one.

Cuba Blaming U.S. as Villain in Ban Campaign

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban government has launched a campaign against homosexuality, Beale - style haircuts, the twist and "other capitalist inheritances."

As usual, Uncle Sam is the villain.

Havana newspapers joined the campaign, stating that homosexuality is "a vicious capitalist inheritance." They said that in a Socialist society there is no room for it. The homosexuals do not represent the revolution and the virile Cuban people.

Centering its campaign on the armed forces and the universities, the government vilified the "homosexuals, the weak boys and those long-haired and strange fellows."

The latest edition of Verde Olivo — Green Olive Tree — the armed forces weekly magazine, printed two full pages of drawings blaming the United States and beatniks for homosexuality in Cuba.

The magazine, which is distributed to young army draftees, shows Uncle Sam dancing and holding hands with a homosexual and a young man with long hair.

Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro, in a recent speech to air force officers, warned Cuban youths "not to receive their inspiration from the twist and rock 'n' roll dancers. They should run away from those weaklings."

Castro did not mention homosexuality, but the Cuban press immediately took up his observations and included in editorial comment the "homosexual problem — that inheritance from capitalism which is still going strong in Cuba."

Jaime Crombet, president of the University Students Federation, announced that "very soon, a purge of all homosexual students will begin at the University of Havana."

The government claims it has eradicated many vices, including prostitution which was wide open before the revolution. Other sources say prostitution only joined "the underground."

Mahoney Is Not Running in New Fall Elections

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Former State Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said he will forego efforts to return to office in court-ordered, special elections this fall.

The decision, Mahoney reportedly said, was based on "personal reasons after careful deliberation."

The veteran Republican legislator was swept from office last fall in the voter tide that put Democrats in control of the state Legislature for the first time in 30 years.

Mahoney, of Buffalo, had been urged by supporters to seek election in a suburban Amherst district created under controversial Reapportionment Plan A, approved by the Republican-controlled Legislature last year and upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Working on More Tax Upon Buttons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Button, button, who's got the —?

Not the man over here who imports things that look like buttons, feel like buttons, but have no holes for thread.

Can he drill the holes? Yes, that's just what he does. Then he has buttons.

So what? So, if the holes were drilled, say in Japan or Italy before the button blanks came into this country, the blank would be subject to about 140 per cent duty. But if they come in without holes, the duty is only 36 per cent.

The House took up a bill today that says, in effect, that button blanks complete except for holes can be subjected to the duty on buttons.

Carrier Wasp Has Capsule on Display

ABOARD USS WASP (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II had competition today from their own Gemini 4 capsule in attracting attention on the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The stubby, scorched spacecraft had a special place of honor in a roped-off section of the carrier's deck. The capsule that traveled 1.6 million miles in four days at 17,500 miles an hour now rests on a ship's dolly that bears the customary shipboard warning: "Speed limit 10 mph."

June Observed as Dairy Month

New York Often Overlooked As Important Dairy Producer

Mention New York State to someone who does not live here, and what does he envision?

He thinks of the giant industries, the great commercial centers, and, of course, New York City.

Second to Wisconsin

Few realize that New York State is an important dairy state. It ranks second only to Wisconsin in milk production. Last year, New York State dairy herds produced 5 billion quarts of milk — more than enough milk to provide the minimum daily requirements for the total populations of Albany, Schenectady, Troy, Binghamton, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Rome and Utica for an entire year.

It was enough milk to make 490 million pounds of butter or nearly a billion pounds of cheese.

New York State dairy farmers had gross incomes totaling more than $400 million.

These observations were made in a statement from the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York, Syracuse, on the observance of June as Dairy month.

Producing milk, though, is not enough. There is no need for producing a single drop of milk unless consumers buy and consume dairy foods. The future of this important industry depends upon building consumer demands for this product.

Reach 55 Consumers

It is necessary to reach 55 consumers daily for every 100 pounds of milk produced. Naturally, each producer doesn't have the time, facilities or the money to contact all of these people to insure a good market for his milk.

However, by joining with thousands of other dairymen in the New York-New Jersey milkshed in a total program of research, education, advertising, merchandising and public relations, a producer can have a loud and effective voice in the market place.

Through the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York, each dairymen invests a few pennies for each hundredweight of milk he sells. This investment — when multiplied by amounts from dairymen throughout the milkshed and the country — is used to promote milk — fluid milk — in the market places within the marketing order.

Today's dairymen has good cause to be concerned about his market for milk. Substitutes, competitive and "fake" dairy products have entered the supermarket and dairy route trucks to eat away at sales of many dairy products.

Fads Hurt Sales

Changing consumer attitudes and health "fads" have played a part in dampening the demand for milk and its products, the statement continued.

There is a lot more to promoting the sale of fresh, fluid milk than merely telling consumers that "milk is good for you."

For example, research has found that milk-drinking among youngsters, especially girls, drops sharply when they reach their teens. It continues downward until they are in their twenties.

Other studies aimed at finding the reasons for this show that many teenage girls avoid milk because they believe it is fattening and that "milk is for kids."

It is not enough that consumers buy milk, they have to believe in it as well. Consumers must understand the real facts about dairy foods. Then, they'll be able to know what's right and what's wrong with the statements they hear and see about milk.

Investment at Stake

The job of setting the record straight lies with the dairy farmers themselves. After all, dairy farmers own and have at stake 95 per cent of the total investment in the entire dairy industry — production, processing and distributions. When consumers stop liking milk, dairy farmers have most to lose. But when consumers use more, dairy farmers have most to gain.

American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York is financed and directed by producers themselves. The milkshed is divided into 19 districts, each with a board of directors. One member of the local board is elected by his fellow directors to serve on the central board which has 28 members. In addition to the 19 districts directors, there are appointed representatives from the Niagara Frontier market, Rochester market, the major milk cooperatives, and the Farm Bureau and Grange.

Current officers of the organization are: President, Bernard W. Potter, Truxton; vice president, Robert Turner, Horseheads; secretary, William D. Allen, Van Hornville, and treasurer, Richard Anderson, Little York.

The Italian Ministry of Public Education reports that 6,906,446 students attended Italian schools in the academic year 1963-64. Of these 231,358 were in universities, the rest in elementary and secondary schools.

Raise for Fire Fighters, Parks on Council Agenda

A career incentive plan for fire fighters and further discussion on the city's parks and recreational areas loomed on the scene today on the eve of the Common Council meeting in City Hall.

Floyd Finch, president of the Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters Association said that the association members "are most pleased to hear that Alderman Raymond Amater (R-11th Ward) is to press for action on the Career Plan at tonight's Common Council meeting. Since the necessary monies (per capita state aid) are now available to implement the plan and it will not be tagged on the Real Property Tax, it is hoped that the vote may be unanimous."

Help on Damage Repair
Meanwhile, Andrew J. Murphy III, superintendent of parks and recreation for the city, said that work was being done to get the city's parks in readiness for summer and that where there were damages which couldn't be repaired by his department, the Board of Public Works would be asked to provide the necessary repairs.

Murphy replied today to a second letter of criticism of the local park facilities by James Thompson, college student, of 108 Fair Street.

Both Murphy and Thompson agreed that there should be a city recreation commission or board. A bill by Alderman William G. Davis (L-13th Ward) calling for the establishment of such a commission, was introduced in the Common Council earlier this year but was sent into the Laws and Rules Committee. There was no indication today that it would be brought out of committee to be acted upon.

Beach Opens 19th
Murphy said today that Hasbrouck Park was now open as was Forsyth Park—which was the first to be opened—and that Kingston Point Beach would be open on Saturday, June 19. He dential area and made the formal complaint, requesting the board to take proper action to require Nelson to cease and desist. The letter was dated May 22.

After a conference with Hawk and Jack Riverburg, zoning enforcement officer, the mayor reported that he was zoning officer and Village Clerk James V. Gage inspected the Nelson property on May 26 and advised Nelson to cease operation until the legality of the usage could be investigated.

Following a conference with the village attorney, Robert Carmichael, and the board members, a letter was sent by the Village Board on May 28 advising Nelson of the violation and requesting him to discontinue the use of his property for any purpose other than residential.

The letter also advised that the penalties for non-compliance were $50 per day for each day of the violation. On June 4, Nelson filed for variance from the zoning ordinance and as far as the board could determine Nelson has ceased operations.

Hearing Scheduled
The Freeman learned today that a hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals is scheduled on the matter, Friday, June 25 at 8 p. m. in the village clerk's office.

In other business, the board granted permission to Saugerties to conduct the Independence Day observance in the village on July 5.

A resolution was approved changing the speed limit in the village from 25 to 30 miles-per-hour in accordance with state law.

Fire Commissioner Donald McCaig announced that the annual inspection of the fire department would be held July 5 at 9 a. m. in front of the firehouse on Partition Street.

New Police Phone
Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele reported arrangements had been made to install a second telephone in the police station. However, the number will be changed. Both phones will be listed under the same number. The additional charge is $19.70 per month plus $15 for installation. The telephone company will provide extensive advertising of the new number.

Commissioner Steele also reported that the faucets for the new village lockup are being installed and the new facility will be ready for use this week.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted lower, widening its losses early this afternoon. Trading was slack.

Key stocks were down from fractions to more than a point. DuPont stretched an early 2-point loss to 4, depressing the averages.

The loss on average was sharp but it occurred without any apparent selling pressure. The list moved gently lower most of the morning then increased its declines as bidders became more reluctant.

The business news background was fairly neutral but many market analysts published comments which were very cautious.

The decline took in steels, motors, chemicals, electrical equipment, mail order-retails and aerospace stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 3/8, with industrials off 2.9, rails unchanged and utilities off 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 8.42 at 802.3. This was about the same as a loss of a point, the average showed at midday Monday when the Dow recovered to erase its decline and post a gain even though many more stocks in the overall market fell than rose.

Prices worked irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

CHECK ASTRONAUTS' MEDICAL CONDITION—Dr. Charles A. Berry, flight surgeon for Gemini 4, points out progress on medical reports of astronauts McDivitt and White to Dr. Hubertus Strughold, right, chief scientist, Aerospace Medical Center, Brooks AFB, San Antonio, Texas. ## Gemini Trip Less brought aboard shortly after the astronauts' arrival.

"It's sure in fine shape," said McDivitt. White agreed, and patted the capsule affectionately.

They inspected the heat shield, then poked their heads inside and explained to the Navy men gathered around some of the inner workings.

The Wasp steamed from the splashdown spot 425 miles east of Cape Kennedy toward the coast of Florida where it will circle off the Jacksonville area until the astronauts are flown back to Houston.

Original plans were for them to stay aboard until Wednesday night or Thursday morning, but there were indications that in view of their good physical condition they might leave sooner.

Anxious About Home

A motorcade is planned for the astronauts from Ellington AFB near Houston to the space agency nearby, but surely the most heartfelt reception the pair will receive will be from their wives and families.

"This is great! This is great!" Pat McDivitt cried when the Gemini 4 capsule splashed down safely and the speedy recovery operations got under way. "I'm speechless. Oh, I'm just speechless," she said.

"Mrs. White was equally jubilant. 'I'm the happiest person in the whole world,' she exclaimed. 'I can't tell you how proud I am. This is the happiest day of my life.'"

Mrs. White said she was sending her husband an early Father's Day card, a bottle of shaving lotion, and a birthday card to McDivitt who will be 36 Thursday. When her husband returns, she said, "We'll have the biggest celebration we can have."

Drama Mounts

The astronauts' safe return to earth was all the more dramatic in view of the broken computer aboard the spacecraft which would have been used for an intricate pre-launching maneuver. Instead of the pilot performing the maneuver, ground controllers had to do it—some of them precisely because of the split-second calculations involved.

Nonetheless, the capsule came home right on time and only 40 miles off the bull's-eye. Cmdr. Luther W. S. Laubach of Georgetown, Tex., circling the area in a Navy plane, watched the spacecraft descend beneath its billowing orange and white canopy.

"I saw it hit the water," Laubach said. "There wasn't a terrific splash—it didn't seem to hit too hard."

Within minutes a helicopter piloted by Cmdr. Clarence O. Fiske of Williamsport, Pa., was hovering overhead, at times a mere 10 feet above the gently bobbing spacecraft. Navy frogmen Neil G. Dow of Princeton, Maine, and Everett W. Owl of Virginia Beach jumped in the water, followed by Lt. (j.g.) Martin Every.

Every swam to the right side of the capsule, found the window fogged over, then swam to the other side where McDivitt gave him an "okay" sign.

McDivitt climbed out and into a raft. White followed. Both splashed their faces with water then the two first McDivitt, then White, were hoisted into the helicopter. Within 34 minutes they were airborne, heading for the Wasp.

McDivitt had radioed to earth during the 62nd and final orbit. "Don't forget, I want to be recovered in a hurry." And that's precisely what happened.

The astronauts, whose good-humored banter added a delightfully human dimension to the highly technical mission, seemed in high spirits right to the end.

Meet the Crew
"Hooray! Hooray! We're going to the Wasp!" McDivitt cried while the frogmen were splashing around the spacecraft. Later, while strapped to a tilt table undergoing a medical test aboard the carrier, he suddenly burst out with a jubilant war whoop. "Yahoo!"

During the examination, White called over to McDivitt. "Hey Jim. Is this a beard-growing contest, you win."

As the two made their way from the sick bay to the captain's cabin they paused to speak and shake hands with many sailors as they could.

Today the space twins will dictate into tape recorders the technical details of their journey. Space engineer Herbert E. Smith has a long series of questions to ask and said the "debriefing" will take a full day.

looking forward to the real interesting things contemplated in the future."

He said the Gemini 5 spacecraft will be somewhat different than Gemini 4. For one thing it will generate electrical power from a fuel cell—a device which converts liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen into energy. It will replace bulky batteries with a great saving in weight.

The fuel cell will give Gemini 5 a long-life capability. A similar cell is being developed for Apollo man-to-moon flights.

Will Use Radar

Cooper and Conrad also will launch their own satellite from the nose of their spacecraft. It will be an instrumental sphere the size of a beach ball. Then they will use a radar system to practice rendezvousing with it.

McDivitt and White had no radar to help in their futile attempt to maneuver close to the orbiting second stage of their booster rocket.

The rendezvous exercise will be a vital rehearsal for the first U.S. attempt to hook up a manned spacecraft with another orbiting satellite.

The flight is scheduled in October, with astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford in Gemini 6. The target satellite will be the second stage of an Atlas-Agena rocket launched one or more orbits before Gemini 6.

To Practice Repairs
Stafford plans to leave the spacecraft after the hookup and practice working with tools on spacecraft nuts and bolts. He could be the forerunner of space repairmen who ferry between satellites to fix balky equipment.

Gemini 7 is planned as a 14-day mission in December. The remaining five flights in the Gemini program then will practice various rendezvous, docking and astronaut-emergence maneuvers.

Mathews said that the schedule will be flexible and that the success of Gemini 4 certainly should encourage attempts at bolder steps than originally envisioned.

The Gemini program is expected to conclude late next year if it maintains a schedule of a flight every two months.

Three-Man Teams
Starting in 1967, three-man Apollo teams will be launched into earth orbit to rehearse for moon shots. Initially, they will be boosted by the Saturn 1 rocket—a vehicle four times more powerful than the Titan 2.

Then will come the pulse-pounding earth orbit flights with the full 92,000-pound Apollo capsule boosted by the giant Saturn 5 with 20 times the power of Titan 2.

If there are no hitches, Apollo program director Dr. Joseph Shea said that he first team of three astronauts could be launched to the moon on the third manned Saturn 5 rocket. That could mean a landing in 1968 instead of the present target date of 1969, he said.

After that?

Moon colonization; year-long trips to Mars; Venus and other points in the solar system; space stations that orbit for years.

All are being considered. Such will be the legacy of Gemini 4, the shots that preceded it and those that will follow.

Little Change Advised

For Considerate Parent

Q "I am 77 years of age and have heavy medical bills. I live with a son and his family who cannot afford any expense on my account. I own 900 Pacific Gas & Electric; 300 Safeway Stores; 100 Chesapeake & Ohio and 50 U.S. Steel. I have a considerable capital gain on all my stocks. These, with Social Security, provide my entire income and I am anxious to guarantee that I don't become a burden to my family. Do you suggest any changes? I.C."

A) You are a very considerate parent, if I may say so. Your list requires little change. You are over-represented in Pacific Gas & Electric, but I should not be concerned about that in your particular situation.

The only stock I suggest switching is U.S. Steel, which is subject to wide price variations and yields less than four per cent. I advise exchanging this stock for Green Shoe, offering a better than four per cent return.

Q "I plan to retire at age 60 with a small pension. Our home has a $15,000, six per cent mortgage. We have $15,000 in savings at 4 1/2 per cent. I should like to pay off the mortgage with my savings, unless you think it would be wiser to invest in stocks for more income." R.B.

A) In your particular circumstances, I would use my savings to retire the mortgage. I generally, though, sound in principle, provided you can afford it. Inflation is not dead in this country and future indebtedness is likely to be paid off with a cheaper dollar.

If you have given me the whole story, I don't see how you can continue to carry your mortgage, even after deducting interest earned on savings. There are no safe stocks that would give you sufficient income to cover your mortgage costs.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Films of Space

Walk Superior

To Russian Try

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Astronaut Edward White emerged casually from the Gemini 4 spacecraft in darkness, and, floating along with it at 17,500 miles an hour, moved into the blazing glare of the unfiltered sunlight.

Rays Hit Flag
The sun's rays first struck dramatically on an American flag sewn to his left sleeve.

This was shown vividly today in color movies made by an automatic camera attached to the underside of the spacecraft. The color film, in excellent focus, was run off for newsmen at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The pictures were made June 3 when White became the first American to venture into space protected only by his suit—and became the first human ever to propel himself in space with a jet-like gun.

The color film was strikingly bright.

The sun glistened on White's silvery space suit and sparkled on the 25-foot golden lifeline which attached him to the space ship.

Behind him, the earth was a blue-green ball, with White floating just over its curve.

In White's right hand appeared to be the space gun with which he pushed himself around the capsule. His left hand was empty.

White stood out starkly against the blackness of space. The capsule appeared to be a nondescript gray.

Apparent Ease

White maneuvered slowly but with apparent ease. Twisting and turning about the space ship. Sometimes his movements seemed somewhat jerky. At one point he snapped off a salute.

The golden lifeline coiled and twisted as White worked his way, propelling himself with a harness strap flapped about him.

The American movie far surpassed the films released by the Soviet Union of the first walk in space by Russian Alexei Leonov last March 18. The U. S. films were clearer and showed dramatically White's movements in space.

Space officials released one still picture in the series. It showed White, in almost a spread-eagle but apparently relaxed position, floating over the rim of the earth.

NASA said the picture was taken from a sequence of 16mm film shot automatically by the spacecraft's belly-mounted camera at six frames per second—slow motion for clarity.

A) You are a very considerate parent, if I may say so. Your list requires little change. You are over-represented in Pacific Gas & Electric, but I should not be concerned about that in your particular situation.

The only stock I suggest switching is U.S. Steel, which is subject to wide price variations and yields less than four per cent. I advise exchanging this stock for Green Shoe, offering a better than four per cent return.

Q "I plan to retire at age 60 with a small pension. Our home has a $15,000, six per cent mortgage. We have $15,000 in savings at 4 1/2 per cent. I should like to pay off the mortgage with my savings, unless you think it would be wiser to invest in stocks for more income." R.B.

A) In your particular circumstances, I would use my savings to retire the mortgage. I generally, though, sound in principle, provided you can afford it. Inflation is not dead in this country and future indebtedness is likely to be paid off with a cheaper dollar.

If you have given me the whole story, I don't see how you can continue to carry your mortgage, even after deducting interest earned on savings. There are no safe stocks that would give you sufficient income to cover your mortgage costs.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

aged numerous buildings, destroyed two anti-aircraft positions and also damaged a secondary bridge.

In the ground war, U.S. Marine patrols killed five Viet Cong and wounded two others in the Da Nang and Chu Lai areas late Monday, spokesmen reported. The Marines captured one of the wounded men and detained 28 others as suspects.

A Viet Cong force overran a government rehabilitation center for Viet Cong defectors 25 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. military authorities said the guerrillas killed seven government troops, wounded six others and 10 more were missing. One Viet Cong was killed in the hour-long assault.

Authorities said reinforcements sent into the area failed to find the attackers.</

What's Going on at the Summit?

We admit there's a lot more to this picture than meets the eye. Depends on how you look at it. May we suggest a way?

Ulster County people know that one of the best ways in Ulster County to keep up on what's going on at summits is to read The Freeman.

Ulster County people know that while The Freeman is good at covering summits, we're even better at covering events right here in Ulster County.

These things being so, what's the logical conclusion? That summit people who want to keep up on what's going on in Ulster County should look to The Freeman, of course. This goes not only for world, national, state, county, and local leaders who want to follow events and opinion in Ulster County, but also for managers of advertising budgets who want to sell in Ulster County.

So much for one way of looking at the picture. In case you're still wondering how we got it, please see box for inside story on this particular "summit."

The "Inside" Story...

Who's the mysterious lady in the picture? Our reporter at the summit? No... but she is the lady who made our picture possible. That's Madam Tussaud of Baker Street, London. Some nice old ladies hold teas. Madam Tussaud holds summits. The other day she held this one for The Freeman. She was even able to summon Mr. Khrushchev, which recently returning travelers report as being difficult even in Moscow. In this special case, curiously enough, Mr. Khrushchev had to be used as a stand-in for two other new leaders not yet available. Story inside the story of this particular "summit" is that everything was done in wax. Madam Tussaud's, you see, is the famous wax museum peopled with hundreds of her creations in wax of great personalities. As a matter of fact, almost everything you see in our picture above is made of wax, except The Freeman. As you know, we make that daily with ink, newsprint, and fresh news about real people.

McAndrew Hurls One-Hit Game, Fans 17 Batters

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Lonnie McAndrew, whose arm miseries hampered the progress this season of the Ulster Community College baseball team, is well again and that's bad news for hitters in the City Baseball League.

The former Kingston High ace threw a one-hitter as his Herzog Construction Co. teammates scored a 2-1 triumph over the Port Ewen Merchants.

McAndrew was given two first inning runs on a walk, a single and two errors and then proceeded to hurl no-hit shutout ball until the fifth.

The shutout bid was halted on a walk, stolen base and error. Lonnie kept his no-hitter until Don Ferraro hit a leadoff double in the seventh inning.

Of the 21 putouts made by Herzog's, 17 came on strikeouts by McAndrew. Starter Dan Potter and relief hurler Wayne Johnson, a star at KHS the same time as McAndrew, combined on a four-hitter with Johnson whiffing 13 in relief.

Action in the circuit continues tonight at 8:15.

Qualifying

Slated Today

For U. S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt and a score of other of golf's biggest names sought to qualify today for the 65th National Open Championship — and a young assistant pro from Ohio gave them a target.

Duff Lawrence, 27, an employee of the Scioto course in Columbus where Jack Nicklaus got his start, took the lead for qualifying honors Monday by firing a pair of 68s for 136 at Cincinnati.

His six-under-par effort over the Cloverbrook course in Cincinnati was best of the 90 players who scrambled for 18 berths at Cincinnati, Chicago, Dallas and Portland, Ore., and looked good enough possibly to stand up under today's heavier bombardment.

A total of 369 players, ex-champions and tour regulars, were to fight it out at nine sites for the remaining 101 spots in the 150-man field which tees off June 17 over the Bellver Country Club in St. Louis.

Thirty-one players, including defending champion Ken Venturi and such familiar winners as Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols and Nicklaus, are exempt.

At Detroit, where 35 players vie for 13 spots, Snead faced such rivals as ex-champions Bolt and Middlecoff, Walter Burkemo and Jim Ferrier, both former PGA kings.

Raichle Wins Senior Title

Clarence (Dubby) Raichle, one of the county's all-time golf veterans, won the senior championship at Twaalfskill Country Club with a 2-under-par 68 and a 4 handicap for a net score of 64. He beat Henry Hartley by one shot.

Twenty-six players competed in the event. Top finishers included:

Clarence Raichle, 68-4-64; Henry Hartley, 76-11-65; E. Minasian, 81-15-66; B. Davis, 83-15-68; I. Eyles, 85-16-69; L. Bruhn, 76-7-69; E. Schirmer, 80-10-70; D. Moseley, 88-17-71; L. Atlanta, Philadelphia Set, To Get AFL Franchises in '66

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—Atlanta and Philadelphia seemed headed toward franchises in the American Football League today while Commissioner Joe Foss predicted the AFL was headed toward a rendezvous with the rival National League.

The AFL sifted through close to 60 applications from groups in 20 cities in the United States and Canada in an exploratory session Monday, voted unanimously to expand to a 10-team league for the 1966 season and was expected to tap two cities for the new franchises sometime today.

An informal poll of the eight owners indicated Atlanta and Philadelphia were running ahead of the field, with Chicago and Milwaukee right behind and Detroit, Cleveland, New Orleans, Miami and Los Angeles not to be counted out.

Singles Out Atlanta

Sonny Werblin, owner of the New York Jets, said he was in favor of any city with a large market but singled out Atlanta "because we need Southeastern exposure" and Philadelphia because "it's one of the best sports towns in the country."

Houston owner Bud Adams also listed Philadelphia among his leading candidates while pointing out that he had been a proponent of warm-weather cities such as New Orleans, Atlanta and Miami.

"But since it looks like the NFL is going to expand into my town," said Adams, "I think we ought to expand into theirs."

Win Net Matches

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—The two top seeds advanced in the opening round for the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament at Colgate University Monday.

Ron Oldman of Georgetown, the No. 1 seed, defeated Jacques Wulfschlaeger of Hofstra, 6-2, 6-0.

The second-seeded player, Bill Burns of Navy, won by default when John Spinella of Cortland State failed to appear.

Luis Tiant Tops Twins For Tribe

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luis Tiant didn't hesitate in making a big splash with his entry into the American League last season. There are some, though, who say Tiant is hesitating now.

The Cleveland right-hander stopped league-leading Minnesota on two hits Monday night as the Indians won their fifth straight game and stopped the Twins' four-game winning streak with a 2-1 decision.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Tiant, who rocketed to a 10-4 record in less than half a season after the Indians purchased him from Portland of the Pacific Coast League last July 17.

This year, though, Tiant has become the center of a controversy in the AL. Some players have accused him of throwing an illegal hesitation pitch, a weapon allegedly employed by the legendary Satchel Paige.

"Tiant is the reincarnation of Satchel Paige," Boston's Frank Malzone insisted recently. "He uses the hesitation pitch, and it's illegal. He throws it two ways, both curves."

Nothing Illegal

Tiant ridicules such a thought as does Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbets, who played in the AL the same time as Paige.

"This is his pattern of pitching," said Tebbets of Tiant, "and there is nothing illegal about it."

The Twins might not have found Tiant illegal Monday night, but they certainly found him difficult to hit. The 24-year-old Cuban allowed only successive doubles by Tony Oliva and Don Mincher in the fourth inning while bringing his record to 5-2.

Backed with consecutive home runs by Leon Wagner and Rocky Colavito in the Indians' half of the fourth off Jim Grant, Tiant retired 15 Twins in a row before walking Harmon Killebrew in the ninth. The loss for Grant was his first after five victories.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit edged Los Angeles 6-5, New York trimmed Kansas City 4-2 and Chicago defeated Boston 7-3. Los Angeles walloped Philadelphia 14-3 in the only National League game.

At Kaline's second homer of the game, a two-run blast off reliever Bob Lee in the eighth inning, brought the Tigers their victory. Joe Accock's three runs batted in had helped the Angels to a 5-4 lead. Detroit scored its first four runs off Dean Chance, who departed in the sixth.

4th Straight for Yankees

Fred Taitob held the Yankees hitless through five innings, but they exploded for two runs on Roger Maris' homer in the sixth and the tie-breaking tally on Bobby Richardson's squeeze bunt in the eighth. That gave New York a four-game winning streak, its longest this season.

Bill Skowron belted two home runs for the White Sox, who also received aid from Boston's faulty fielding. The Red Sox committed four errors and a passed ball as well as a balk. Johnny Buzhardt won his fifth game in six decisions with relief help from Eddie Fisher in the seventh.

Sandy Koufax scattered nine hits and struck out 13 for the fourth time this year, winning his eighth game against three defeats. The Dodgers supported him with seven runs in the fourth inning. Jim Lefevre, Ron Fairly and Wally Moon each driving in a pair.

Columbus Gains On Two Top Clubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlanta and Toronto may be running 1-2 in the International League standings, but there is one baseball expert who says the Columbus Jets will end up being the team to beat.

"Atlanta and Toronto had better keep an eye on Columbus," said Buffalo Manager Warren (Sheriff) Robinson Monday.

Columbus whipped Rochester 12-7 Monday night to move to within 3 1/2 games of Atlanta. In the only other games, Jacksonville beat Toronto for the third straight night, 5-4, and Syracuse stopped Toledo 6-4.

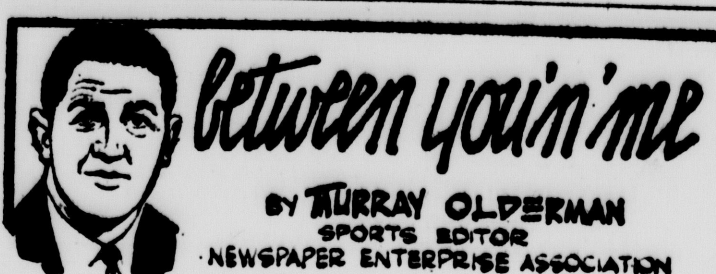

The Jets were down by five runs at one time and by four at another, but battled back to tie the score with Rochester 7-7 and then pushed across four big runs in the seventh and two errors in the three hits and two errors for good.

It was an error and a wild pitch that paved the way for Jacksonville to beat Toronto again. Toronto shortstop Mike Andrews dropped an infield pop-up to set the stage for the Jacksonville rally in the second inning.

The error let Jacksonville's Jim Napier get to second base. He scored on Ello Chacon's double and the latter he scored on a wild pitch by Ed Connolly.

The winning pitcher in the Jacksonville game was Mike Cuellar, 8-1.

John Ryan's three-run homer in the fourth inning powered Syracuse to its victory over Toledo.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (NEA)—The first two times Jimmy Clark lost at Indianapolis in the 500-mile race he could have blamed it on bad luck. He didn't. He blamed it on himself, which is why he's some $175,000 richer for having won on Memorial Day in 1965.

The first time the silent little Scot (yes, he's dour, too) ran at Indy in 1963, an oil spew from Parnelli Jones' car made it too dangerous to pass on the slick track and forced him to settle for second. Last year, his tire shredded as he was running away from the field and tore up his rear suspension.

Coincidence? Maybe. Jimmy and his car designer, Colin Chapman, preferred to believe it was lack of preparation. They'd treated the "500" like a European road race, squeezing in their arrival a couple of days before the big show.

In '65, in his rear-engine Lotus debut, Clark wouldn't have been skidding in Jones' oil if he'd realized what his car could do. He'd have been way out front in the driver's seat. Last year he never even ran a trial run with a full fuel load to test the capacity of his tires.

So on May 1 of this year Clark and Chapman arrived on the scene geared to work for the biggest sports spectacular in the world. The tough Scot farmer (he has 1,250 acres of grazing land in Duns, Scotland) put more practice miles on the track than any other driver—800 to 1,000 miles for the twin Lotus team. The first week here he ran with a full fuel load. He wasn't getting ready to qualify, like the other entrants, but for the race. He tried all the tire brands.

Clark went through 15 straight days of hard running, pushing himself and his car. While the other Lotuses were having trouble, his breezed (and Jimmy later confessed it ran better at the end of the "500" than it did at the start).

Then Clark broke tradition. The other drivers hang around Indianapolis as tension builds and the biggest sports crowd in the world starts pouring into central Indiana. Caught in the commotion they can't rest. Clark flew off to his farm in Scotland for a mental siesta and returned refreshed four days before the Memorial Day classic.

On the first turn after the green flag, from the No. 2 starting position, Clark quickly gunned his car past A. J. Foyt. It was a symbolic move because Foyt has been the big news in auto racing this year—King of the Road, he's called. And when Clark audaciously took the lead and stayed there (even before Foyt's transmission knocked him out on the 115th lap), Jimmy was saying, through his engine whine, "Make room for a new No. 1."

The Clark-Foyt rivalry is golf's Nicklaus-Palmer. Clark tools these souped-up hotrods (you can hardly call them cars because they're all engine and gas tank, with barely enough room for a cockpit that's molded like a back yard contour chair) like Nicklaus plays golf—cold, calculating, emotionless.

"The '500' race is all right, really," said the 29-year-old bachelor, "but no more thrilling than winning a Grand Prix road race."

"The whole month really does go on and on."

Jim won seven Grand Prix races en route to the 1963 world's driving championship.

"I felt no need," he said in reference to his previous failures at Indianapolis, "to be vindicated."

A $175,000 check covers a lot of feelings.

Cepeda Not Ready To Resume Playing

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Giants may have to make their run at the National League pennant without any help from first-baseman Orlando Cepeda.

The slugging Puerto Rican, who underwent surgery for removal of cartilage from his right knee last winter, was due to leave the disabled list today but instead was on his way back to San Francisco for further treatment.

Cepeda, who re-injured the knee during a spring training foot race with Manager Herman Franks, was examined here Monday by Dr. Harrison McLaughlin, who performed the operation last December.

Dr. McLaughlin sent the slugger back home with instructions to refrain from all exercising. There was no indication as to how much longer Cepeda would be sidelined but his recovery is apparently so far behind schedule that he could miss the entire season.

Pittsfield Keeps First Place Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsfield Red Sox rode the effective relief pitching of John Thibodeau and Fred Wenz to defeat the York White Roses 5-4 Monday night and retain their one-game lead in the Class AA Eastern League.

Williamsport stayed within striking distance by defeating Reading 11-6, and Elmira turned back Springfield 3-1 in a game twice interrupted by rain.

With one out in the third inning, Thibodeau relieved Bill MacLeod and pitched scoreless ball. He was relieved by Wenz in the ninth, who came in with runners at second and third and one out. Wenz then got one batter to strike out and the other to fly out in foul territory.

The Red Sox scored a pair in the fifth inning to take the lead. Reggie Smith led off with his first homer of the season, then a walk and two singles brought home the winning run.

The Williamsport Mets collected 11 hits, including Jim Lampes' fourth home run, and four doubles, to bombard three Reading pitchers.

A fly ball that got lost in the twilight helped Elmira take the lead in the game at Elmira.

Elmira and Springfield were tied 1-1 after a 22-minute interruption for rain. Mickey McGuire singled to lead off Pioneers' fourth inning. Then Jake Martinez lofted a fly to right field, but Eric Glenn never saw it in the twilight gloom and it fell for a double. McGuire stopped at third.

McGuire scored on Don Nichols' sacrifice fly, and Martinez scored a little later on Lee

Herb Petersen Captures 2nd In Landgraf

Herb Petersen of Kingston captured a four-game total of $2,000 to finish second in the 23rd annual Bill Landgraf Memorial Bowling tournament Monday night in New York. The second place finish is worth $2,000 to the local ace.

Joe Tusa Jr. of Brooklyn rolled 916 to win the $4,000 first prize in the tournament, which includes the best kegler in the eastern part of the country.

Petersen, brother of Larry Petersen, a long-time bowling star in the city, carried averages of better than 200 in both the Invitational Classic and the Mid Hudson Major league.

Don Fitzgerald hurled a five-hitter and struck out 11 in pitching the Canfield Supply Little League verdict over the VFW Pirates.

Fitzgerald helped his cause with a double and single. The winners peeked away at loser Mike Hargrove for single runs in the first and second and a pair in the fifth.

Babe Ruth Victories

Legion Post No. 150 beat Kiwanis, 4-2, and the VFW walloped the Vols, 14-0, in opening games of the Kingston Babe Ruth League last night.

Andy Murphy hurled a one-hitter for the Legion, walking eight and striking out 15 batters. Richard Oakley's single was the only hit off Murphy's slants.

The winners touched Mike Andrews for single runs in the second and third and for two more in the fourth. Bob Davis, Murphy and Tom Glaser hit doubles to lead the way.

The Vets rode the two-hit pitching of Mike Colodi to their easy decision. They had three innings of four runs each to pin the loss on starter Wayne Simpson.

Greg Rios homered and singled to pace the 12-hit attack. Mike Perry tripled for the Vols while Colodi aided his cause with a double.

Tonight's games will have the K.P.A. against the Rotary Club at Dietz stadium and the Macons opposing the Knights of Columbus at the Athletic field. Games begin at 6 o'clock.

G-G's Still Unbeaten In City Softball Loop

G-G's Dukes continued their unbeaten pace in the City Softball league with a 13-3 win over Minute Car Wash last night at Upper Hasbrouck. It was the fourth straight triumph for the league leaders.

In other tilts, Armstrong Eagles pounded the 35 Club, 16-4, at Block Park and Johnny's Shell toppled Cord's Hose Vols, 19-6, at Loughran.

G-G's scored eight runs in the opening inning and coasted as John Woods picked up his third win with a six-hit, nine strike-out performance.

Bill Murphy hit a pair of doubles and a single for the winners. George Norton and Joe Tremper had two base hits. Flip Jackson singled twice for minute Car Wash.

Armstrong's had a pair of six run innings against the 35 Club. Winner W. C. Lindsay gave up five hits, walked seven and fanned five. Tom Childs swatted a triple while Junior Jackson and Pete Blanchard hit doubles.

Johnny's Shell rebounded from a pasting last week at the hands of Subway to easily dispose of winless Cord's.

Al Milak was touched for 10 hits but his mates rapped 19 off the combined slants of Harry Stokes and Gene Palladino.

Extra base hits were not listed in the box score.

Tonight's game has Subway Grill meeting Wimpy's at Block Park.

Epitaph on the gravestone of an Army mule: Here lies Maggie, who in her time kicked two colonels, four majors, ten captains, twenty-four lieutenants, forty-two sergeants, four hundred eighty-six privates, and one bomb.

The minister advertised for a man - servant and next morning a nicely dressed young man rang the bell.

Minister - Can you start the fire and get breakfast by seven o'clock.

Young Man - I guess so.

Minister - Well, can you polish all the silver, wash the dishes and keep the house neat and tidy?

Young Man - Say, parson, I came here to see about getting married - but if it's going to be as much work as all that you can count me out right now.

Better believe it than go where it was done to prove it.

The famous Pepper - Smathers Democratic primary for the U. S. Senate in Florida, 1960, was a torrid campaign.

It may be apocryphal, but Smathers was supposed to have a speech for his illiterate cracker voters that painted his opponent as a man who deserved the gallows. It went this way:

'Are you aware that Claude Pepper is known all over Washington as a shameless extrovert? Not only that, but this man is reliably reported to practice nepotism with his sister-in-law, and he has a sister who was once a thespian in wicked New York. Worst of all it is an established fact that Mr. Pepper before his marriage habitually practiced celibacy.'

CHIP

HOW DID YOU DO IN THE MEMORY TEST?

The magician was entertaining the guests aboard ship. A parrot was in a cage nearby.

Everything that was made to disappear by the magician was greeted by a shout of FAKER from the parrot.

Suddenly, an explosion destroyed the ship. The parrot - badly battered - landed on a raft occupied by the magician.

For two days the parrot sat and stared at the man. Finally the bird spoke:

I CAN'T REMEMBER!

Parrot - All right, you win! What did you do with the ship?

Little Junior came running in one evening with a fine penknife in his hand.

Father - Are you sure this knife was lost son?

Little Junior - Of course it was lost. I know it was lost because I saw the man hunting for it.

Newsman Taking Another Look at Cities in 'Bama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Visiting newsmen take another look at Birmingham today, then head for the space city of Huntsville in their tour of Alabama.

The 47 editors and reporters — including one Negro — from newspapers across the nation came here at Gov. George C. Wallace's invitation to find out if news stories about racial problems in Alabama have been distorted.

Their first day of travel in state trooper-escorted buses Monday took them to two of the cities which have experienced racial strife in recent years — Selma and Birmingham. The visit brought picketing by civil rights demonstrators at Selma. In Birmingham, the state's largest city and the south's major steel producing metropolis, the out-of-state newsmen talked with Negro educators and visited the 16th Street Baptist church where a still-unsolved dynamite explosion killed four Negro girls in September 1963.

Negro demonstrators tried in vain to crash the gate at a barbecue at Selma. City police under Public Safety Director William B. Baxley kept them back, and the newsmen lunched several hundred yards away without interruption.

Monday's 96 Is High for June 7

Old Man Mercury—who doesn't know that summer is still two weeks away—set a record-breaking 96 degrees for the day Monday, while those who sweltered under it couldn't care less.

At any rate, the thermometer surpassed the previous record of 93 set back in 1939. In case you're interested, Old Merc' got down to 66 degrees yesterday which wasn't even any kind of a record. He was in the 70s as Ulsterites paraded themselves to work this morning.

Oh yes, it was humid, too.

Then he pressed his license to his lips and placed it on the bench.

Regional Parley On Welfare Set For June 10th

"Closing the Gap Between Education and Social Welfare," will be the general theme of the New York State Welfare Conference Region VI all-day meeting Thursday, June 10, at Singers Lakeside Manor in Spring Valley.

Attendance at the meeting will include members of boards of education, school administrators, supervisors, as well as executives, supervisors and workers of social welfare agencies from the seven-county region—Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

Lester Granger, who for more than 20 years served as executive director of the National Urban League in New York City, will be the morning speaker. Granger, a past president of the International Conference on Social Welfare and currently visiting professor at Dillard University in New Orleans, will highlight the nature and extent of the gap between the two community institutions and will consider ways in which bridges between social welfare and educational services may be built. Dr. Bernard A. Kaplan, of the New York State Department of Education, and Joseph M. Linda, Director of the Home Service Bureau for State Training Schools, will respond to the challenges posed by the keynote speaker.

Following the luncheon a panel of experts will discuss "Practical Ways of Closing the Gap." Included on the panel will be such leaders as Mrs. Nancy McCormick Rambusch, director of Early Childhood Project, New York Foundling Hospital; Robert V. Cogger, Ph.D., Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction, Central School District No. 2, Spring Valley; Paul Irvine, Ph.D., Director of Special Education, Northern Westchester County, Yorktown Heights, and the chairmanship of Mrs. Marion Graves, Director, Personnel Services, Public School System, White Plains.

Leonard Rohmer, executive director of the Westchester Jewish Community Services of White Plains, and Norman Catlett, assistant superintendent of the New York State Training School at Otisville, are co-chairmen of Region VI of the New York State Welfare Conference. Other participants in the conference will include the Rt. Rev. James T. McDonnell of St. Joseph's Church in Spring Valley and Fred B. Nibb, Commissioner of the Rockland County Department of Public Welfare.

Seaway Toll Drags

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway is up but income from tolls still isn't enough to catch up with all payments due the treasury, a House Appropriations subcommittee was told in testimony made public today. The testimony came from Joseph H. McCann, head of the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp., which operates the Atlantic Ocean-Great Lakes Waterway.

McCann told the subcommittee in a closed hearing that shipments on the seaway rose to 39.3 million tons in 1964, a 27 per cent increase over the 1963 total of 30.9 million tons, which in turn was 5 million tons above the 1962 figure.

Fear 114 Mine Toll

KAKANJ, Yugoslavia (AP) — The technical director of the Kakanj mine said today "most probably there were 114 victims" in Yugoslavia's worst mine disaster since World War II. Dr. Muriz Osmanagic said the toll might go higher when rescue teams reach all parts of the shaft, ripped by a methane gas explosion Monday. Rescue workers recovered 111 bodies. Three other miners were listed as missing. Osmanagic said there were 183 men in the shaft when the explosion hit 450 feet underground 1 1/2 miles from the entrance.

See Insurgents Easing Stand on D-R Settlement

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebels have appointed a peace negotiating team, a move believed to indicate they are easing their opposition to proposals for a political settlement.

The six-man team is headed by rebel chief Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo and includes Hector Aristy, Caamano's presidential minister in the insurgents' constitutionalist government, Foreign Minister Jotin Cury, Atty. Gen. Salvador Blanco and rebel Senate President Anibal Campagna.

Sixth Not Known

The name of the sixth member was not immediately known.

The three-nation mediating team from the Organization of American States continued to meet with local leaders in an effort to break the stalemate.

The OAS group is made up of Ambassadors Ellsworth Bunker of the United States, Ilmarina Marinho of Brazil, and Ramon de Clairmont Dufras of El Salvador.

In their first contact the mediators were told the rebels would accept no solution that did not call for revival of the 1963 constitution and formation of a new government in accordance with it.

The OAS team planned to go into the interior of the country today to sound out business and political leaders.

Arouses Speculation

The mediators have been approaching some leaders not readily identified with either the rebel or army side. This has aroused speculation that they may have in mind a new "third force" formula for a government dominated by members not linked to either faction.

In Cordoba, Argentina, U.S. Consul Allison Temple Wanamaker, 46, of Seattle, Wash., was seriously wounded Monday night by gunfire from a passing car while driving home. Attending physicians said he was hit in the cheek and left hand.

Police could give no reason for the attack, but anti-U.S. demonstrations have been held in various Argentine cities protesting the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic. Cordoba is an industrial and university city, and leftist feeling is high among many workers and students.

U. S. Consul Serious With Gun Wounds

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — U.S. Consul Allison Temple Wanamaker is in serious condition with cheek and hand wounds suffered Monday night when shot were fired at him from a passing car.

Police sources said Wanamaker was driving home when the car overtook him. Several shots were fired and the attackers fled while Wanamaker fought to control his car.

Cordoba is an industrial, automaking and university city 500 miles west of Buenos Aires. Leftist feeling runs high among workers and some student groups.

How Sweet It Is

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro ended the 1965 sugar harvest Monday night with the announcement that 6 million tons have been produced.

Cuban sugar production regularly used to reach 6 million tons before 1961, when Castro tried to get away from the one-crop economy by shifting emphasis to other branches of agriculture and to heavy industry. This was reversed in 1963.

Last year's crop of 3.8 million tons was one of the lowest in recent years. "From 3.8 million tons to 6 million is an unprecedented jump," Castro said in a radio and television broadcast.

Castro filled and sewed up the symbolic final sack of the harvest.

She will have a hearing before Justice Herbert Poppel later. Lynda Pomeoy, 16, Wawarsing, was traveling east on Jenny Brook Road at Route 209 at 6:10 p. m. Monday. She stopped her car and then proceeded to enter Route 209. Bryan Furman, 22, traveling south on Route 209 swerved his vehicle to avoid a collision but his car was struck on the right side by the Pomeoy car. Trooper Stanley Kowalski investigated. No injuries were reported.

Hassan Assumes Control

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II personally took over all executive power in Morocco today after failing to form a coalition government representing the country's major political and labor divisions. The 36-year-old monarch said in a special broadcast that he was assuming all powers to "safeguard the stability of the government." Hassan recalled that he had launched negotiations for a broad coalition government. The negotiations followed bloody student unrifings in Morocco in which government troops fired on rampaging mobs causing a number of casualties.
